FAMOUS SCIENTIST PLANS MOST DARING STRATOSPHERE TRIP

Professor Jean Piccard Expects to Rise Twenty Miles With 2,000 Small Balloons to Furnish Lift and Dynamite Caps for Safety Valves to Control Descent

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP). — With about 2,000 small balloons to take him up, and dynamite caps for safety valves to come down, Professor Jean Piccard, University of Minnesota, announced today the most daring stratosphere flight plan ever made.

He expects to rise easily to twenty miles, seven miles over the present record, and far above the capacity of present-style stratosphere bags.

He said that this Summer, in Minnesota, he plans to make a preliminary test. About eighty rubber sounding balloons will take up a one-man gondola. The balloons range in diameter from four feet to sixteen, which is their bursting point.

EXPLAINS MECHANISM

The little balloons will be tied above the gondola in bunches, with dynamite caps fixed where one balloon or one bunch could be cut loose. Electric wires to the gondola will enable Piccard to fire the caps and stop the experimental ascent. Ballast will be relied on to bring the gondola down with the remaining balloons.

Mounted Police Have $100,000 Worth of Opium Recovered From Fraser

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27 (P.).—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers here had $100,000 worth of opium in their possession tonight, but held little hope that the discovery of the narcotic would lead to arrest of anyone responsible for its importation.

The drug, in sacks, was hauled from the Fraser River on the anchor chain of Ss. Gyokoh Maru at New Westminster today. The Japanese vessel had anchored in the stream while waiting for dock space.

Investigators said it was the custom of smugglers to cast their bundles of opium into the water, where they were recovered by accomplices dragging from small boats.

WEATHER DETERRENT

The present cache, apparently lost when tossed overboard, might have been submerged for more than a week, R.C.M.P. officers said. Recent cold weather and ice on the river would act as a deterrent to dragging operations, they declared.

Officers said they did not believe the narcotic had been dropped overboard from the Gyokoh Maru.

The opium, a long bundle of eleven sacks tied together, each sack containing between fifty and sixty tins, valued at $200 each, was brought to R.C.M.P. headquarters here this afternoon.

OPERA SINGER IS FREED OF BLAME

Lawrence Tibbett Exonerated in Death of Basso Accidentally Stabbed During Rehearsal

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP).—Lawrence Tibbett, star of opera and screen, was exonerated today of any blame in the death of Joseph Sterzini, a choral singer, whom he accidentally stabbed during a rehearsal yesterday.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, acting chief medical examiner, said an autopsy showed Sterzini died of heart disease, and not as a result of a stiletto wound inflicted on his left hand during a mock struggle on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House.

With about 100 other members of the cast, Tibbett was rehearsing for next Thursday night's American premiere of "Caponsacchi" when Sterzini was wounded. The heavy-set bass choral singer deprecated the injury, but later he went to a hospital. Five hours after the accident he died.

NOW WANTS DEFINITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP). — United States Senator Ellender, Louisiana Democrat, asked the State Department and the Securities Commission today to define the practical limitations of the Johnson Act forbidding loans to nations defaulting on debts to this country.

Ellender said that if, in their opinions, an $85,000,000 Canadian bond offered in the United States was legal, he would introduce legislation to plug what he termed "this wide open gap" in the law.

In his maiden address yesterday, Ellender attacked the Canadian bond issue on the ground Canada was a "possession" of Great Britain and Britain had defaulted on its war debt to the United States. The Canadian issue was disposed of last week.

THIN EDGE OF WEDGE

He emphasized today he had no wish to jeopardize United States friendly relations with Canada. He did not feel the $85,000,000 issue alone was of major importance, but if Canada is permitted to float loans in the United States, he declared, other subdivisions of the British Empire may do the same thing, thus nullifying the intent of the Johnson Act.

Ellender said the bill he is considering would forbid a defaulting

MADRID STARTS RATION SYSTEM

No Thought of Surrender Whether Attacked by Arms or Starvation

MADRID, Jan. 27 (AP).—The people of Madrid "will eat their shoes before they surrender," General Jose Miaja, head of the Socialist defence junta, proclaimed tonight.

ATTACKS REPULSED

An insurgent thrust at Madrid's northern defences was thrown back by the Socialist defenders in the El Pardo sector, five miles from Madrid. Other attacks were repulsed south of the capital on the road to Aranjuez.

Several artillery shells burst in the centre of Madrid, but the city had a respite from air bombing due to cold, heavy rains.

An old woman selling newspapers, reminded she had selected one of the most dangerous points in the city, replied with a shrug of the shoulders:

"One must die some time, and until one dies one must live".

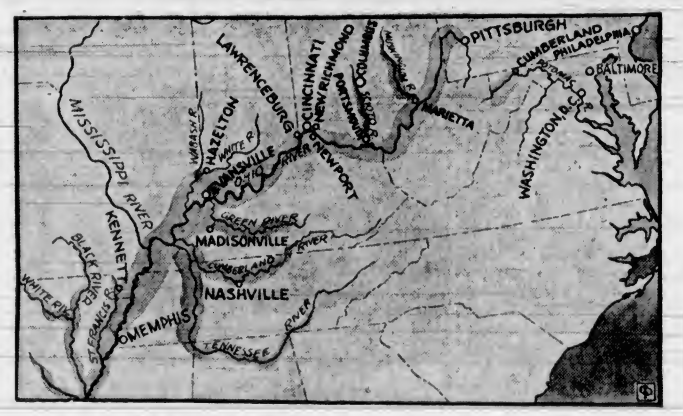

Convicted of Appearing in His Uniform

LEEDS, Jan. 27 (P. — First case brought to court in the United Kingdom under the Public Order Act, banning political uniforms, resulted today in a conviction.

Magistrate Marshall decided William Henry Wood wore a political uniform while selling copies of the Fascist publication, Action and The Black Shirt.

Wood was fined 40 shillings (about $10). He was wearing a peaked cap with Fascist badges, a black shirt and black tie, when arrested.

None Injured When Runaway Train Roars Through Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 27 (AP). — A forty-car Great Northern freight train, out of control, roared through half a dozen major Tacoma grade crossings at sixty miles an hour late today, finally grinding to a stop in the half-moon yards near the shore of Puget Sound. No one was injured, although the train tore across Pacific Avenue, the city's main artery.

Engineer W. G. Myers reported an air brake failure affecting the last twenty-eight cars caused the dash. Trainmen finally stopped the rush by applying hand brakes on each car.

Minister Replies To Attack Made On Air Defences

LONDON, Jan. 27 (P.).—A prediction that 100 squadrons of the Royal Air Force would be formed by the end of March was made today in the House of Commons by Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for Defence Co-ordination.

Sir Thomas replied for the Government to a motion by Oliver Simmonds, Conservative, which stressed defence against air attack was inadequate, and urged accelerated production of equipment. A private member's motion, it was talked out without a vote.

Eighty-seven squadrons had been formed up to the present, Sir Thomas said. Of these, thirteen were on a one-flight basis, and it was anticipated that by March 31, twenty-two would be on a one-flight basis. That is to say, they will be developed into fully equipped and manned squadrons.

COMPLETE IN JULY

"If our expectations are fulfilled, the remaining twenty-four squadrons (of the Government's present programme)—at any rate, twenty—will be completed by July of this year," he said.

A squadron is made up of twelve aircraft with a personnel of approximately twenty aviators.

ASKS CONGRESS FOR AUTHORITY

Secretary of Labor Seeks Power to Investigate General Motors Strike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP).—Secretary Perkins asked Congress today for power to investigate the causes of strikes and to recommend the terms for their settlement.

Blocked in her efforts to bring together the General Motors Corporation and the striking United Automobile Workers for a peace conference, the labor department chief asked House and Senate simultaneously to consider the legislation with "the utmost haste."

About the same time General Motors posted on all plant bulletin boards a statement signed by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president, saying the corporation would negotiate with the auto workers' union as soon as sit down strikers evacuated the plants.

Sloan denied Miss Perkins' accusation that the corporation had evaded "moral responsibilities" in the strike crisis.

Miss Perkins asked for the strike legislation in simultaneous letters to Majority Leader Robinson in the Senate and Speaker Bankhead of the House.

B.C. WATCHING FISHERY MOVE

Reopening of Washington Salmon Traps in Part Expected From Discussion

Provincial fishery officials were watching legislative efforts in the State of Washington yesterday to repeal the initiative measure by which salmon traps were closed two years ago in Puget Sound and in some waters affecting the Fraser River.

A bill to repeal the closing of the traps has received two readings in the Washington Assembly. The unofficial belief here is that limited rights may be granted in Washington for the reopening of the traps, with reservations in certain areas.

CONTROL BY CATCHES

From the Canadian standpoint, Provincial fishery officers believe that the only effective control in any fishery is by way of total and area catch limits, adjusted to the proper reproduction levels of the fishery, as is done now with halibut.

As it has a bearing, however, on Fraser salmon fisheries, the Washington move is being followed with interest.

HUGHES AWARDED AVIATION PRIZE

Wins Harmon Trophy for 1936 for High-Speed Flights in the United States

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP). — The Harmon Trophy, noted aviation award, goes this year to Howard Hughes for his flying feats during 1936, Colonel Charles Kerwood announced tonight. Colonel Kerwood is president of the American section of the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs, which made the choice.

Hughes' most recent flight was crossing of the United States from Los Angeles to Newark, January 19, in seven hours, twenty-eight minutes and twenty-five seconds. Also cited in the award were his world's land plane speed record of 352.388 miles an hour made at Santa Ana, Calif., September 13, 1935.

U.S. ARMY PREPARES TO EVACUATE TOWNS ALONG MISSISSIPPI

Authorities Fearful That Deaths May Total Many Hundreds Due to Effects of Privations—Terrible Conditions Revealed at Louisville — Workers Feverishly Strengthen Levees

No Time to Identify Dead as They Are Buried in One Grave

(By the Associated Press)

Homeless—Estimated at almost 1,000,000 by the Red Cross.

Dead—Known dead numbered 262, including 133 known dead in Louisville. However, it was reliably estimated more than 300 had died from exposure and disease in Louisville hospitals. This would boost the general flood total to more than 428. Known dead by states included: Kentucky, 170; Arkansas, twenty-three; Missouri, fourteen; Ohio, fourteen; West Virginia, twelve; Indiana, nine; Tennessee, nine; Illinois, six; Pennsylvania, three; South Carolina, one; Mississippi, one.

Damage—Conservatively estimated at more than $400,000,000.

Relief—Red Cross raising $10,000,000 relief fund. Senate arranged for quick consideration of $790,000,000 deficiency appropriation. President Roosevelt has promised it will be made available for flood relief. Red Cross, medical, relief workers, and Federal and state agencies rush supplies and aid to flood victims.

FEARSOME PROSPECT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP).—Citizens on the 1,500-mile flood front awoke tonight to a realization the dead may run into hundreds, as the Ohio swept on toward the Mississippi and the United States army made ready to evacuate any danger point from Cairo, Ill., to New Orleans.

Louisville, Ky., struggling under the Ohio's record inundation, had a tragically mounting list of fatalities.

Elsewhere, the Ohio was receding or stationary at most points, leaving Cincinnati, Portsmouth, Ohio, and many lesser cities hopeful.

They faced, nevertheless, disease, water shortage and cold. Coast guard officials reported influenza of epidemic proportions at one point—Paducah, Ky.

The homeless in eleven states were approaching the million mark. Property damage, at a conservative guess, was more than $400,000,000.

At Louisville, Deputy Coroner J. Ray Barrett said 120 bodies had been taken from the city's submerged west end; he maintained none had drowned, but all died of exposure, pneumonia and heart ailments. In addition, there were reliable estimates of 300 deaths in hospitals there from flood effects.

DEAD UNKNOWN

The dead were being buried without identification—so great was the threat to sanitation.

Nine undertakers were sworn as deputies to the coroner. Dr. Hugh Rodman Leavell, city health officer, said decomposed bodies—he knew not how many—had been taken to Highlands cemeteries trenches for burial.

"We have no way of knowing how many dead we will find when the waters go down," he added.

The army's precautionary plan for transferring the possibly endangered thousands who live along the Mississippi's banks — ordered with the official explanation it probably would not become necessary—would bring into action 35,000 motor trucks and rows upon rows of railroad flat cars, in the biggest army transport effort since the Great War.

SAFETY EXCEEDED

The military proceeded against a flood which army engineers said was expected to pour into and over the Mississippi channel, 3,000,000 cubic feet of water a second against levees which they said were capable of handling only 2,400,000 cubic feet. Some officials stoutly maintained the levees could hold the expected onslaught.

Frantic workers sought to build higher the sixty-foot sea wall at Cairo, Ill., at the confluence of the Ohio and the Mississippi, where a

It contained bathing suits.

WAR PLANS DISCLOSED

Conspirators in Moscow Trial Tell of German-Japanese Intentions

MOSCOW, Jan. 27 (AP).—A German-Japanese war against the Soviet Union was planned for 1937, two of seventeen confessed conspirators to overthrow the Government testified tonight.

Leon Trotsky, who was alleged to have arranged a deal with Germany and Japan by which the two nations would receive territorial concessions in return for aid to the plotters, sent word to Moscow that war would come in 1937, Radek asserted.

DENIED BY TROTSKY

He said another of the defendants, Gregory Platikoff, brought the asserted message from Trotsky, whose second son was reported arrested today. Trotsky has denied vigorously any connection with the plot.

Previously Kniazeff, former Soviet Southern Urals Railway executive, told of causing the deaths of sixty-three persons in a widespread train wrecking programme.

Nearing the end of the trial, the court announced a closed session tomorrow to hear evidence banned in open court. It was expected the case would go to the judges on Friday night.

Unofficial reports that Trotsky's second son, Sergei Sedoff, only member of the family remaining in Russia, had been arrested at Karsnoyarsk, gained general acceptance in Moscow, especially among foreign diplomats.

The official Communist newspaper Pravda had published demands of workers that the secret police arrest him. This was considered strong evidence that he was in prison.

General Ugaki Encouraged In Task of Forming New Japanese Cabinet

TOKIO, Jan. 27 (AP). — General Kazushige Ugaki today laid before the throne an account of the obstacles—chiefly grim army opposition—encountered in his efforts to form a new cabinet.

Then he returned to his task with evident encouragement.

At the same time Ugaki, former governor-general of Korea, nominated by the Sovereign three days ago to form a ministry to succeed that of Koki Hirota, received the first physical evidence of the bitter opposition of military and reactionary elements to his premiership.

As he returned from the Imperial Palace three unarmed civilians, members of fanatical Rightist societies, charged into the house he was using for headquarters and tried to present a petition demanding that he abandon his efforts to head a ministry.

Surrender Brings to Close Escapade That Claimed Two Lives After Daring Escape From Jail — Resists Arrest Three Hours

QUEBEC, Jan. 27 (P.).—Subdued by firemen's hoses, tear gas, gunfire and persuasion of a village cure, Honorat Bernard was captured today and brought back to Quebec, where three days ago he broke jail with a companion and started on an escapade that claimed two lives and took police on the wildest hunt in the annals of Quebec crime.

The twenty-eight-year-old fugitive was captured near Neuville after a three-hour siege of a habitant's isolated home in the snow-clad hills, fourteen miles west of Quebec City.

For three hours, more than two score provincial officers poured intermittent rifle and revolver fire into the frame building, where Bernard had taken refuge after being discovered sleeping in a hay pile.

After police had fired several volleys and then tossed tear gas

Brave Priest Arrives With Sick Man After Fight With Blizzard

Mushes 400 Miles Along Coast of Hudson Bay—Storm So Strong Roof Is Blown Off Igloo Of Ice Blocks

CHURCHILL, Man., Jan. 27 (CP). — Storms of persistent ferocity, the worst sleighing conditions in years, 400 miles along the bleak west coast of Hudson Bay with a sick companion, an Eskimo and twelve courageous dogs—and Father Ducharme reached Churchill with the Winter mail from Chesterfield Inlet.

Father Ducharme told the story today after he had recovered his strength from the peril and privations of nineteen days' mushing through an Arctic blizzard. He reached here a few days ago after bringing a fellow priest, Father Kermal, on the sled from Eskimo Point Mission half-way from Chesterfield. Father Kermal is taking the next train south in an effort to regain his health.

LOST THEIR ROOF

So fierce was the storm in the early part of the journey that it wrenched the top from an igloo Father Ducharme and the Eskimo built to protect themselves.

At one stage of the journey they had to use part of their flour to keep the sled running freely.

Father Ducharme said he and the Eskimo, who rejoices in the name of Lolliteik, "the Fat Fellow," left Chesterfield January 4 in a blinding blizzard and reached Mistake Bay January 12 after being delayed two days. At noon that day they were forced to stop and build an ice house for protection.

"But before the igloo could be built," said the priest, "we had to build a wall of ice blocks in a half circle as a shelter. During the night the top of the igloo opened up due to the force of the wind. The igloo became too cold and draughty for sleep.

FLOUR FOR MUD

"We proceeded in the morning, but lost the mud on the runners owing to the roughness of the ice. This mud is used as a shoeing over the steel runners," he explained, "as steel is of no use in cold weather. We had to use part of our supply of flour for shoeing as there was no mud available."

On January 16, they left Eskimo Point with Father Kermal and were lucky to find plenty of caribou which provided dog feed and fresh meat for themselves.

"It was very heavy going all the way," Father Ducharme said. "At North River we made only one-quarter mile in two hours. Sleighing conditions were worse than for many years."

THE ONLY MAIL

He will remain here until the next mail arrives on February 7 from the South, then will start again for Chesterfield with the only mail the inhabitants of that lonely spot will receive during the long Arctic Winter. Father Ducharme makes this trip every year.

DEATH REMOVES J. T. WILKINSON

J. T. WILKINSON

John Thomas Wilkinson, aged sixty-six years, superintendent of Royal Oak Burial Park since it was opened in 1923, passed away on Tuesday in St. Joseph's Hospital. He had resided in Victoria and district for the past twenty-three years.

Three years ago Mr. Wilkinson celebrated completion of half a century of landscape gardening and horticultural work. During the period he was superintendent of Royal Oak Burial Park, he had made many improvements to the park, drawing from a wealth of experience gained in England, Canada and the United States.

A native of Leeds, Yorkshire, England, Mr. Wilkinson was apprenticed when a boy on Lady Saxon Booth's estate. He served his apprenticeship for three years with Lady Booth, and then left to become a gardener for Sir George Armytage, of Huddersfield, Yorkshire.

FRUIT FOREMAN

After leaving Sir George Armytage, Mr. Wilkinson became fruit foreman for Lord Stanley at his Cheshire estate, located between Birkenhead and Chester. He stayed with Lord Stanley for three and a half years, and left to take a specialized course with the Dickson Nursery in Chester, which had 500 acres of garden, greenhouse and fruit trees.

Mr. Wilkinson in between his various appointments, completed three post-apprenticeship courses. One was the study of coniferous and ornamental trees; another, greenhouse growing, and the third, landscape gardening. In the latter study he took two different courses.

Following the completion of these particular studies, Mr. Wilkinson became foreman on the estate of R. C. Clarke, Esquire, in Glamorganshire, South Wales.

This appointment was followed by that of foreman for Chandos Poole, Esquire, of Derby, and then general foreman for the estate of David Jardine, Esquire, of the Cunard Line. From this post he went to the Palm Grove Nurseries, quite famous in England, and after several years with this firm returned to private gardening, becoming head gardener for William Richardson, Esquire, justice of the peace and chief magistrate of St. Helens, Lancashire.

ESTATE MANAGER

Cliff Castle, Dorsetshire, occupied by Henry Isaac Butterfield, Esquire, was the scene of his next horticultural enterprise, and from this place he went to serve as estate manager for Joseph Rowntree, of York, head of the famous candy concern.

In 1913, Mr. Wilkinson came to Canada, first taking up his residence in Vancouver and later Victoria. He laid out the garden for the home of the late W. J. Bowser, K.C., and then went to the State of Washington, near Tacoma. For five years he also was gardener at Government House here.

Many of the gardens in which Mr. Wilkinson worked in the Old Country are well known, and his knowledge of horticulture secured for him many posts of importance and responsibility.

Mr. Wilkinson is survived by his widow, at the family residence, Royal Oak, and one daughter, Mrs. Lilian Nelson, in Victoria.

The remains are resting at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon by Dean Quainton. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

MINISTER REPLIES TO ATTACK MADE

was to increase the first line strength of the Air Force to approximately 1,750 aircraft, not including the navy's air asm, but including the auxiliary air force, which is to be increased by four squadrons.

Sir Thomas explained delay in execution of the programme had been caused by three factors:

Aeronautic technique was changing swiftly, and it was difficult to obtain draftsmen, machines and tools.

It was necessary to send twelve squadrons to the Middle-East, the Mediterranean and Aden.

NO TIME SAVING

The Government had considered buying foreign machines, he said, but they believed aircraft could be obtained equally soon by using Britain's own resources.

"Shadow factories will commence production in so far as air frames are concerned, in the Austin factory in the Autumn of this year, and in so far as engines are concerned, production will begin in January of next year," Sir Thomas added.

F. Montagu, Labor, said that, if Simmonds was right in regard to the United Kingdom's position in the air, it was time the Government quit and made room for a new Government. He thought an estimate by Simmonds that Germany must have something like 15,000 airplanes was "very extravagant."

SOME WAY BEHIND

Britain must come to the "unpalatable conclusion that so far as the air list his disclosed the true picture, the expansion programme is somewhere between one and two years in arrears," Simmonds, Conservative, declared in opening the debate.

He moved the resolution: "That the House, while endorsing the Government's programme of air defence, urges that the power of this country to resist air attack continues to be inadequate, and emphasizes the need for increased organization, both to accelerate the production of flying and ground equipment, and to protect the lives of the people."

"Towards the end of 1935," Simmonds said, "I visited, with the permission of the German Government, one of the most recent aircraft factories, and the efficiency there, and the volume of activity and perfection of the products I witnessed, came to me as something of a grave shock."

PLANES BY THOUSAND

Simmonds said he had learned there were 150 German airdromes. "It would mean, including training machines, the German Air Force must have something like 15,000 planes," he said, "to us this sounds an astounding figure, but from what I saw fifteen months ago—and much since has happened to increase the rate of production—it is completely probable."

Simmonds said he had received a "disquieting letter" from the managing director of an important contracting firm, referring to the difficulty of obtaining skilled labor and reporting the situation would become worse when the "shadow scheme" or aircraft production was inaugurated.

The most urgent necessity, Simmonds urged, was the organization of primary supplies. Hitherto the Government had insisted that supplies be drawn from the United Kingdom. Simmonds suggested normal suppliers of raw materials be permitted to import from the best sources abroad sufficient supplies to meet the present shortage.

"THIS IS RUBBISH"

At this juncture, Simmonds was interrupted by a man in a public gallery shouting: "This is rubbish! Only a farmers' policy will save the country and stop war." The interrupter was hustled from the gallery, shouting "don't push!" at the attendants.

Captain H. H. Balfour, Conservative, seconding the motion, declared with the coast of England only six minutes from the Continent and London fifteen minutes from the coast, the Government had an enormous responsibility for air defence.

The Government's efforts, he said, should be based on the principles of making the nation air conscious to a much greater degree and putting forth a supreme effort in regard to technical quality and quantity. Russia and Germany, he continued, were concentrating on educational work in defence matters among the growing generation. It was the duty of the British Government to inculcate similar ideas amongst the citizens of the British Isles. Every boy of eighteen leaving a secondary school, he declared, should have a state-aided opportunity of going into aviation.

PLANS MOST DARING STRATOSPHERE TRIP

For the twenty-mile ascent with perhaps 2,000 balloons carrying a large stratosphere gondola, it is expected the balloons will begin to burst at their ceiling. Experiments at Minnesota show they will not explode simultaneously and that many will go to twenty miles.

DESCENT WOULD BE SLOW

Even explosion of several hundred would not, Professor Piccard said, cause the gondola to fall. Its descent would be slow.

The reason the sounding balloons can go so much higher, Professor Piccard said, is their light weight compared with a gas bag of equal lifting capacity. The weather balloons are ten times lighter, with the same amount of safety, he explained.

At twenty miles, Professor Piccard would be very nearly "outside" the earth's atmosphere so far as its density is concerned. Most of the air is compressed by gravity in levels below twenty miles, although thins gas extends scores of miles higher.

REFUGEES HELPED

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 27 (AP).—Across a pontoon bridge—the "life line" of flood-divided Louisville—refugees, in dwindling number, filed by the dim light of flares tonight, seeking food and shelter.

Into the lap of the Highlands, attractive residential district protected from the Ohio River's greatest flood by its several hundred feet advantage in altitude, 200,000 homeless from water-covered Central and West Louisville, had been dumped unceremoniously in the last four days.

The creeping paralysis of the flood, which choked off all industry and business downtown, created a major relief problem for the high and dry hill dwellers. They had not lost their homes and other belongings like fellow citizens in the lowlands. Quietly thankful for that, they poured out their sympathy on the unfortunate thousands by providing food, shelter and medical care. A great residential district, its electric power out and its water rationed, hummed in the darkness as its citizens fell to the task of saving a city.

Destroyer Forced To Accept a Tow

LONDON, Jan. 27 (CP-Havas).—The 1,360-ton destroyer Beagle, in distress 115 miles west of Gibraltar, was taken into tow today by the destroyer Brazen, the Admiralty announced tonight.

The battleship Ramillies and two other destroyers sped from Tangiers to offer aid to the Beagle, which has crippled condensing engines.

ASK REVISION IN SALARIES

Saanich School Teachers Want Trustees to Reconsider Wage Schedules

A revision in salary schedules will be sought by teachers in the elementary schools of Saanich, the municipal school trustees were advised last night. A request for an informal meeting with municipal ceived, and, although no definite mention was made, it was understood this session would be held to discuss salaries.

At the board meeting last night, H. R. Dawson, writing in behalf of municipal elementary teachers, requested the board to meet a delegation of teachers. The board announced it would see the delegation next Wednesday evening.

A letter requesting an informal meeting on February 12 of the board and high school teachers at Mount View High School to discuss various school matters was received from Albert Bailey, on behalf of the high school instructors. The board found it inconvenient to meet the teachers that day and offered to meet them on Saturday, February 6.

In order that adequate time might be allowed for any revision of school board estimates required, the board decided to ask the municipal council to grant it a one-week extension on filing estimates. According to procedure, the estimates must be submitted by February 15. If the council grants the request tonight, it will not be necessary for the board to file its 1937 budget until February 22.

Coal Miners to Get Higher Pay

DONCASTER, England, Jan. 27 (CP).—A strike of 12,000 miners of the Doncaster Collieries, in progress since November, was settled today on the basis of increased wages.

Former rates of pay varied from 19 down to 14 pence a ton of handcut coal and from 17 to 14 pence for machine-cut. Now hand-cut coal will be paid at the rate of 20 pence a ton and machine-cut at 18 pence.

Negotiations will be opened in regard to a guaranteed minimum wage.

FIREMEN MAY RECEIVE NEW HOURS SOON

Conference Between Wardens, Council, Oak Bay And Underwriters Held

OPPOSITION TO TAX INCREASE IS GIVEN

Fire Department Hours of Labor Act, giving firemen a sixty-hour instead of a seventy-two-hour week, may be in operation by March 1, Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, chairman of the firewardens, announced yesterday, following a conference at the City Hall.

In addition to firewardens, those present at the meeting were Mayor Andrew McGavin and several members of the City Council; D. A. S. McGregor, secretary of fire branch of the British Columbia Insurance Underwriters' Association; F. F. Dowling, engineer of the branch; Reeve R. R. Taylor, Councillors William Ellis, Richard Angus, Leonard Woodhouse, Archie Gibb, of Oak Bay, and R. F. Blandy, Oak Bay municipal clerk.

Firewarden Morgan pointed out the new Provincial Government act ordinarily would mean engagement of twelve additional firemen at a cost of over $14,000 for the balance of 1937. He set the full cost for a year at $20,747. The sum would mean an additional half-mill on the tax rate, to which he was strongly opposed.

Another alternative would be to close Duchess Street Fire Hall and also another station, possibly Victoria West, Burnside or Yates Street. The new hours ordered for firemen would raise the cost of Duchess Street hall $5,500 per annum, the present cost being $28,000. Oak Bay pays $11,500 per year for fire protection from Duchess Street, with a provision that additional equipment would be sent from the city in case of a major outbreak.

Although the chairman of the meeting stated yesterday that it was impossible to give results of the deliberations until Oak Bay came to a decision whether it would pay more for fire protection, it is understood firewardens unsuccessfully asked the fire underwriters' representatives for a large contribution in respect to the extra cost of fire protection faced by the city.

Reeve Taylor, of Oak Bay, said the matter of Oak Bay paying more for the services of Duchess Street hall would be discussed at the first meeting of the new council this evening at 5:15 o'clock. He was not prepared to reveal if the municipality was prepared to pay more, or erect its own fire hall and terminate the agreement with the city.

Figures furnished at the City Hall show that Oak Bay would have to pay $50,000 to build and equip a modern fire hall capable of taking care of ordinary fires. It is not expected that the municipality contemplates such an outlay.

Firewarden Morgan stated another joint meeting would be held within one week, at which it was hoped to settle the whole matter of fire protection. He added that the new hours for firemen might be in operation by March 1.

"Now! I'm safe from Food Debility thanks to 'OVALTINE'"

MANY a man or woman who is "run-down" and depressed will look in vain for the cause before arriving at the correct one . . . Food Debility.

In these modern, bustling times the symptoms of Food Debility are everywhere more evident. The reason is that the ordinary dietary does not provide all the food elements essential for making good the extra demands on your nervous system. As a result, energy flags, vitality is lowered, and starved nerves give rise to sleepless nights.

You will always be safe from Food Debility when delicious 'Ovaltine' is your daytime and bedtime beverage. 'Ovaltine' makes the daily dietary complete in the nourishment which builds up body, brain and nerves. A cup of 'Ovaltine' at bedtime aids sound, natural sleep and creates new energy and vitality for the coming day.

But, it must be 'Ovaltine'—there is nothing "just as good." Remember that 'Ovaltine' is a complete food scientifically prepared. 'Ovaltine' stands in a class by itself. It gives you more in quality and more in quantity. Furthermore, owing to the huge world-wide demand for 'Ovaltine,' it is available at prices which make it an economical food beverage in use.

A. WANDER LIMITED, ELMWOOD PARK, PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

● I used to think it was worry

—for things had been very difficult at the office. So I started to cultivate a more philosophic frame of mind. I tried hard, but I was just as "nervy," listless and "played-out" as before.

● Or perhaps - Insomnia

For months I hadn't had a really good night's sleep. "I'll go to bed earlier," I thought. But I might have known that sound sleep was out of the question with my nerves constantly on edge.

● I feared a nervous breakdown

—I was getting really alarmed—and then Philip told me about 'Ovaltine.' Well—I'm a new man since taking 'Ovaltine.' It gave me just the nourishment I needed. For, after all, my trouble was Food Debility.

Quality always tells — insist on 'OVALTINE'

ADMIT ATTACK OF AGED MAN ON AUTO TRIP

O. Keown and R. Davidson State They Beat but Did Not Rob John Foster

CASE TO CONTINUE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Orville Keown interrupted evidence for the Crown yesterday to declare he and Robert Davidson were guilty of assault but not of robbery when they and Gertrude Scoular, married, were arraigned in provincial police court for a preliminary hearing on a joint charge of assault and theft of $13 from John Foster, aged Vancouver resident.

When questioned by Magistrate Henry C. Hall, Keown said Davidson had authorized him to speak for both. The accused stated he made the admission in order that a number of witnesses might be dispensed with.

Magistrate Hall warned Keown he could expect no special leniency for making the admission, and Sergeant Richard Harvey, prosecutor, told the court he wished to call all witnesses.

THIRTEEN WITNESSES

After thirteen witnesses had been heard, the case was remanded until tomorrow at 2 p.m.

John Foster testified he met the three accused on the night of January 7 in a local downtown cafe, and in a U-drive car motored to Esquimalt, where they visited two beer parlors. Later, after a long drive to a district not known by him, the car was stopped by Keown, who was at the wheel. Both Keown and Davidson got out, he stated, and were away for some time. The witness said he became engaged in conversation with Mrs. Scoular, who sat in the front seat. He stated he saw her suddenly draw back, and, on turning his head toward the left hand rear door, saw Keown strike at him.

Keown, Foster claimed, got into the car and struck him repeatedly, as did someone on the opposite side. Just who was the other assailant, the witness said he was not certain. He stated he lost consciousness, but regaining it in a few minutes, he appealed to Keown:

PLEAD WITH ASSAILANTS

"If you want the few dollars I have in my pocket, you don't need to murder me for it."

The assailants continued, however, and, according to Foster, Keown took his purse, containing $13, from his pocket. The assault continued until Foster lost consciousness again. He stated he came to lying in the grass at the side of the road. He later staggered to a house, where he saw a light, and had the inhabitants telephone for the police.

Police evidence indicated the alleged assault took place on the Belmont Road, near Esquimalt Lagoon. A watch, identified by Foster as his own, was reported found on Belmont Road.

Several witnesses testified to seeing the party in the Tudor House, licensed premises, on January 7.

Her Limbs Were Almost Crippled

Suffered With Sciatica for 25 Years

Those who are subject to sciatica should read this letter from one who suffered for years before she found out how to obtain relief:—

"For 25 years I suffered from sciatica in my right side, and I had backaches which forced me to remain in bed for two or three weeks at a time. When I got up in the mornings, my arms and legs used to pain me almost unbearably. One day I heard of Kruschen Salts. I took a bottle of them without feeling much improvement. I tried a second bottle, and that time I felt better. I have kept on taking Kruschen ever since."—(Mrs.) H.L.

The pains of sciatica are frequently caused by an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients of these salts assist the internal organs to expel the dissolved acid from the system. (Advt.)

SITTINGS MAY CLOSE TODAY

Court of Appeal Has Few Cases Still to Dispose of At Present Time

The greater part of the time of the Court of Appeal was taken up yesterday with argument in the case of Westminster Mills, Ltd., vs. Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, which was a very complicated matter concerning the affairs of the Westminster Mills and the Campbell River Mills, the latter being in liquidation.

The appeal was from a refusal of Mr. Justice Murphy to grant an order applied for, for the restoration of the Campbell River Mills to the list of organized companies in the province.

J. A. McInnes, for the appellant, contended that the reinstatement was for the purpose of aiding in the winding up proceedings and could do no injury to any one.

For the respondent W. Martin Griffin, K.C. quoted a very long list of authorities upholding the stand taken by the judge and against granting of the order. Judgment was reserved.

The peremptory list for today, which will probably see the conclusion of the sitting, is as follows:

Rex vs. Congdon.
Rex vs. Molland and Grange.

ASSOCIATION HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Officers Chosen by Agriculturists and Fruitgrowers of Saltspring—May Change Name

SALTSPRING, Jan. 27.—The annual meeting of the Islands Agricultural and Fruit Growers' Association took place in the committee room of the Mahon Hall, Ganges. The president W. M. Palmer was in the chair.

The minutes of the previous annual meeting were adopted as read, also the financial report given by the treasurer, R. O. King. The president gave a short resume of the work accomplished in 1936, which included various improvements to hall and stage, and the purchase of a drop scene for the latter. He stated that the mortgage, standing at $1,000, had been reduced by $200, and the $800 still owing can in future, it had been arranged, be paid off in $200 instalments, also the rate of interest on the amount had been reduced from 6 per cent to 5 per cent.

The nomination of officers next took place and after balloting the following five were elected: Mrs. T. F. Speed, W. M. Palmer, W. Crawford R. O. King, Harold Price. Auditors, D. S. Harris and W. J. Page.

It was proposed to hold a special meeting in two or three weeks' time for the purpose of changing the name of the association, either to the Islands Agricultural Association and Farmers' Institute or the Islands Farmers' Institute.

The meeting went on record as being in favor of electric lighting the hall.

It was decided, again, to hold no Fall fair this year and to hold a pruning demonstration as soon as it can be arranged for. The membership fee is to be $1. It was decided.

Miss Modern (to judge): "Not only did he break my heart and wreck my life, but he spoiled my entire evening."

COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN SUCCESSFUL

J. D. McMartin, Vancouver, Says Co-ordinated Collections Meet With Approval

MANY ADVANTAGES OF SCHEME ARE OUTLINED

The consolidation of from thirty-four to forty-two of Vancouver social agencies into a federation for the collection of contributions under a community chest plan had worked extremely well in the Mainland city, J. D. McMartin, president of the Vancouver Y.M.C.A., said yesterady, in addressing the annual meeting of the Central Exchange.

CHEST SUCCESSFUL

Speaking of his experiences with the community chest as an official of the Y.M.C.A., Mr. McMartin declared that before federation his organization was one of a score or more of social agencies seeking financial aid. The association conducted the best organized campaign in Vancouver, but the organizing work and the actual work of the campaign took much time of those connected with the drive, he stated.

Mr. McMartin said at first his directors had felt a resentment toward joining the community chest, but eventually had capitulated. Their campaigns had cost the Y.M.C.A. from 10 to 12 per cent, Mr. McMartin stated.

Before federation, he continued, the public had been harassed by various organizations for funds, and there were several groups not entitled to aid, which had crept into the general group. Continued demands had filled the public with a certain amount of resentment.

It was, therefore, agreed to co-ordinate all collections into one community chest drive, with each organization submitting its estimates for the year to the central group. These were carefully checked and often returned for downward revision. Upon receipts of the funds at the end of the drive, Mr. McMartin said, proportionate amounts were distributed to the member associations, depending upon the success of the drive.

For some years it was found returns were not as large as the single enterprises in the past had been, but he recalled the group had started simultaneously with the depression.

He claimed as the chief objection to such a scheme the fact that the initiative had been taken away from member groups in conducting their campaigns. However, he believed publicity drives of the right sort would offset this.

LISTS ADVANTAGES

Mr. McMartin listed as advantages of the community chest plan the following: (1), there was one big campaign, which assuerd all worthy causes or returns; (2), the money donated was worthily spent; (3), workers realized there was only the one big job to tackle and worked at a higher pitch; (4), camaign details are out of the hands of member associations' executives, thus allowing them free time to carry on their own business; (5), class barriers were broken down to a certain extent; (6), a far wider territory could be covered and more persons contacted with the larger force of helpers on hand; (7), expenses would but cost but about 7 1-2 per cent, against much higher costs of single campaigns; and (8), higher returns would be more or less assured.

Mr. McMartin said that in the first year of the community chest drive, the total collections from 20,500 persons contacted had been $262,500, as against $147,000 from 4,500 persons approached before the scheme was introduced. He submitted statistical figures to show that in the survey made in the United States of many Y.M.C.A. secretaries, the community chest was very popular.

Thanks were extended to Mr. McMartin by Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the city relief committee.

MARKETING CONTROL

There are those whose preconceived ideas are so ingrained that experience teaches them nothing. That seems to be the case with the proponents of marketing control in British Columbia. There is growing dissatisfaction with this method of regimentation, and yet the propaganda persists to extend its sway. The latest move is to bring the berry growers of the Fraser River under the scheme so that the power of bureaucracy may be enlarged. That plan was tried in 1928 and led to a lamentable failure, but nevertheless those who believe in compulsory marketing schemes rely on the gullibility of those on the land. They remain undeterred by experience in pools tried in the soft perishable fruits and in eggs. Neither scheme could survive in competition with independent produce firms. Both fell from grace because of amateurish efforts to interfere with the law of supply and demand.

The latest blandishments exerted to induce the berry growers to come again within a scheme of compulsory co-operation hardly seem likely to productive of giving the Provincial Government the opportunity of providing work and wages for a favored few of its followers. Opposition on a more organized scale than in the past is developing as a part of the growing dislike to marketing control as a whole. The Federated Coast Growers' Association, which represents hundreds of growers, has made a strong protest to the Provincial Minister of Agriculture. It points out to him that those who are seemingly in favor of compulsory marketing of small fruits are not representative of the small fruits and rhubarb industry of the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island. It is, moreover, intimated to the Minister that the members of the Federated Coast Growers' Association "will not agree to the form of dictatorship to which they would be subjected through a marketing scheme," and that they "are fully aware of the absolute impossibility of controlling a perishable article, such as berries, in a manner advocated by those through whom representation in favor of this principle has been made." The plan is described as "expensive, economically impractical and could serve no purpose other than to create soft jobs for a few at additional expense to the growers."

HOSPITAL ACCOMMODATION

Those who require medical attention in some form or other and who will came under the terms of compulsory health insurance, but feel that they can postpone treatment until April are following this course. They realize that since they are to be taxed it is as well for them to save money now and secure whatever medical services they require when compulsory payment is in force.

If the success of the compulsory plan is to be measured by the number of patients treated under it, there is no doubt that it will be launched with every prospect of satisfying its proponents. The problem, however, will be one of hospital accommodation. The present facilities in many parts of the Province, and particularly in the cities are inadequate. In some places there is overcrowding. It may be taken for granted that under compulsory health insurance there will be a largely-increased demand for hospital accommodation. The problem confronting the Provincial Government will be that of providing the money, for, with the experience of hospital finances in this Province, there is little hope of private enterprise being interested in erecting buildings. Municipalities, if they are expected to provide accommodation for the beneficiaries of the health insurance plan, can only do so if their public approve money by-laws, and there is not much chance of this with municipal taxation what it is.

The Provincial Government may well find it is launched on the expenditure of some millions of money in addition to the sums it will collect from the people under compulsory health insurance. This scheme of social legislation was half-baked from the beginning, for it is failing to provide for all eventualities. It is not even known with any exactitude that the money to be derived from the taxation involved will be sufficient to provide the medical benefits promised, because there is no knowledge of what the incidence of sickness will be in the future. In the meantime the first bridge which the Health Insurance Commission has to cross is that of providing hospital accommodation for the flood of patients in the initial stages of the experimental venture. In this particular the Provincial Government should be prepared to give an outright statement of what it intends to make this branch of social legislation work smoothly from its inception.

THE COLLECTIVIST MENTALITY

An unambitious collectivist politician is a contradiction in terms. Ambition, the desire for power, is a distinguishing characteristic of all those who work for the establishment of a collectivist regime, be it Communist, Socialist, or Fascist, the rule of a permanent bureaucracy whether directed by a central committee or under a single person. Another identifying mark of the species is the high opinion which they invariably place upon their own intelligence as compared with that of ordinary men.

The collectivist is no shrinking violet. He judges himself to possess immense skill in the exercise of a power universally acknowledged to be rare indeed among the sons of men, namely, the prophetic faculty. Some prophets have prophesied "right things," but the collectivist is in the happy position of being able to speak with confidence of "smooth things" for his fellow countrymen, if they will but invite him to take into his hands the reins of political power.

The forward-looking attitude is habitual with the collectivist. The average man is apt to rely dogmatically upon the lessons of past experience as a guide to action. The collectivist, on the contrary, bases his policy on a speculation regarding the future. He reasons not in the light of usage and past precedent, but from anticipations of a future, the shape of which has been revealed to him in his capacity as a prophet. Sir Henry Maine said in one of his treatises that the movement of progressive societies has hitherto been a movement from status to contract. The collectivist, however, promises us a planned economy, that is to say, an economy not planned by the people, in accordance with their needs and aspirations, but planned for them, an economy which shall be constructed according to the fancy of a government bureau and administered by the same, an economy in which the members of the community are to be deprived of the privilege of entering into free contractual relations with each other. In other words, what the prophetic soul of the collectivist sees and forecasts is a reversal of the movement spoken of by Sir Henry Maine. If the collectivists are right we are to see, and suffer under, a movement backwards from contract to status.

No description of the collectivist mentality would be complete without a reference to the fact that the collectivist has been denied the possession of a sense of humor. He takes himself very seriously indeed. In this country at least his fellow countrymen do not accept his estimate of his own wisdom or his political worth. It is the absence of humor in the radical politician that makes him an unsafe depositary of power.

OHIO VALLEY FLOODS

The losses caused by floods in the Ohio Valley constitute a major tragedy and it seems as if the task of avoiding the effects of the recurrence of these floods is too great, or would involve too much expense. It is an engineering problem which has been known of for a long time. Had it been tackled on a great scale in the past the present disaster could have been avoided, or at least greatly mitigated. As it is, the United States is faced with an expenditure which ultimately may prove as great as if measures of a protective nature on the scale necessary had been taken years ago.

The House of Representatives has passed a Deficiency Appropriation Bill making $790,000,000 available for the flood sufferers whose number is approaching a million persons. In addition, the Red Cross is appealing for a fund of $10,000,000 to provide for the emergency. These amounts, however, will be by no means all that will have to be spent, for there is the question of relief during the period of re-establishment. The emergency is described as the greatest the American people have faced since the Great War. Possibly it may prove graver because of the destruction of property. The sympathy of the world will go out to the American nation. It is, at the same time, in the grip of two major strikes, and, as well, the fruit and vegetable industries of California, because of weather conditions, have suffered the heaviest losses in quarter of a century. So many calamities affecting a people simultaneously are difficult to bear, and especially at a time when there are signs of a resurgent prosperity affecting the fortunes of the nation.

What has happened in Ontario and in Alberta suggests that the British North America Act should be amended with a clause inserted to the effect that "No Province shall pass any law impairing the obligation of contracts." Mr. Charles Gaudet, of Montreal, says: "If private rights are to be respected, if the country is to take pride in the good name it once enjoyed, an aroused public opinion will have to demand amendments to the Constitution enacting that no law shall impair the obligations of contracts."

The Moslem world is getting more up to date. At the Masjid Sultan Mosque, at Singapore, microphones have been installed and loud speakers in the minarets so that the call to prayer, intoned by the muezzin, may carry to all who should hear. The radius of audibility is now a mile.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

The time to prepare for a session of the Legislature is when nobody is talking or thinking about the Legislature. Then you can get your Bills in first. A behind-handed administration would be almost certain to grab at them, to keep the House busy. That is a straight tip for legislators, and, while they are at it, I would like to suggest one or two laws that no one else seems to have proposed in the past. Here they are:

* * *

Wage-Earners' Family Residue Act—This is a bill to guarantee by statute that wage-earners will be permitted to take home at least some of the money in their weekly pay envelopes. Recent encroachments by the one per cent income tax, the proposed two-plus one per cent health tax, the oft-mooted two per cent sales or turnover tax, and a once officially suggested three per cent education tax have made wage-earners restless. The Wage-Earners' Family Residue Act would insure that they can take home at least ten per cent of their wages to the family.

* * *

Solitaire Licence Act—This is a Bill to supplant all forms of provincial multiple licences, in favor of one great licence, which can be purchased annually, and will do everything a good licence should. Under it will come licences to drive a motor car, to own a motor car, to let your son drive a car or a truck, to angle or just to fish, to hunt or to shoot birds and the wilder animals, to cut timber, to prospect for coal, to mine copper, to grow cut-clean-sack transport-and-sell potatoes and other root, soil, or tree crops, —to, but there is not space to name them all.

* * *

Control of Loudspeakers Act—This is a Bill to bring a curfew law into effect in connection with radio loudspeakers with a range of more than 500 lineal feet through sidewalls. Under this Bill, which would be a progressive anti-noise measure, radios would have to be dimmed to a sound equivalent of one woman singing at a concert hall after 9 p.m., daily.

* * *

Ministers' Mileage Act—This Bill would set a definite limit on the mileage of Cabinet Ministers in any fiscal year. A fair limit could be allowed, say 10,000 miles in any calendar period of twelve months. After that, (1) the Ministers would have to use their own money; or (2) they could come under the Wage-Earners' Family Residue Act, for settlements on compassionate grounds. Schedule Two of the Bill, of course, deals with the Civil Service. They would be allowed 2,000 miles, and ten long-distance telephone calls, per annun. After that, they would have to walk, or write.

* * *

Extravagant Statements Act—This Bill probably is a little far advanced for our times, but as a means of education it would be clearly advisable to suggest it now. Clauses Four to Forty-four mean in plain language that any public servant who habitually makes wild and extravagant statements about our people will be forced to prove them. Part Two of the Act deals with ratios, and innuendoes leading from ratios. The penalty clause may be a little severe, but after all decapitation has been revived in parts of Europe and Asia, so muzzles are by no means out of the way.

* * *

Fomenting Unrest by Unofficial Weather Reports Act— This Bill is long overdue. Decent citizens must be protected from those who predict, in the course of one street car ride, rain, snow, sleet, fog, and frost in Victoria, of all places. It has a short alternative title: Leave It to Gonzales Act. Undoubtedly it will be better known as it well deserves. Subsidary Clauses with spreading false rumors about influenza, measles, scarlatina, and mumps, etc., without due and sufficient cause. Due and sufficient cause to assert epidemic control will occur when one in five of the populace is afflicted, supported by affidavit on form SD115.

These six Bills are only a sample. There should be many more, of course. There is enough here, however, to keep even a fifth session of the Legislature busy for a week, while "someone can get around to the budget and the lighter routine form of legislation. They are not copyrighted, at least by me, as I feel that there should be the widest possible dissemination of these truly constructive measures. Indeed, if I can find a lobby, I am prepared to sit down and lobby.

RUBBER STAMP'S USE MANIFEST ABSURDITY

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 26 (AP).—By the grace of Supreme Court at the Monroe County courthouse, Edward VIII continued yesterday to be King of England.

British subjects admitted to citizenship in Rochester today renounced allegiance not to King George VI, but to his self-exiled brother. Court attaches explained the form for a new rubber stamp bearing the full title of the present king had not yet arrived from Washington, and the old stamp was the only one available for use on official papers.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length.

COLD WATER BATHING

Sir,—A recent editorial, "A Dangerous Practice," points out the bad effects of jumping out of bed immediately on waking, and it seems but natural to allow for a recuperative period after the state of sleep. To indulge in a long stretch of every muscle and limb is a good practice, and, as for the cold bath or a modification thereof, with faithful practice it soon loses its "terror."

Except for the real cold part of the Winter, when the tap is frozen, I find a few minutes' application of the garden hose a very invigorating way of beginning one's day. And when the snow is on the ground a rubdown with snow once a day, morning or evening, should not be neglected.

The essentials for a cold rub and for any cold water treatment, are warmth of the body before the application, coolness of the water, natural temperature, rapidity of action, and friction or exercise to stimulate the circulation. No cold water treatment should be taken when the body is in a chilled condition. Warm or hot baths continually indulged in by most people has a weakening effect upon circulation, enervating the superficial nervous system and lead to atrophy of the cuticle. The skin, as an organ of elimination, suffers as such through much hot water bathing, thereby lowering our resistance to disease, such as colds and influenza, especially in Winter time when the body is heavily clothed and we spend much of our time in heated rooms and buildings.

Again, cold water bathing, when begun, soon ceases to be an "ordeal" for it strengthens the will, increases your self-respect and brings health in the bargain.

NATIONALISM

Sir,—Probably many of your readers who read an article in The Canadian Magazine, January issue, were surprised to read one entitled "Canadian National Policy."

I felt after reading it that the freedom of the press had been abused by its publication, as such articles surely tend to foment trouble. When such stuff as the following excerpts show is disseminated, one feels ashamed lest the folks at home happen to read it and will wonder if we are demented.

"We (Canada) are not part of the British Empire."

"We would not feel bound to defend the British Empire."

"Nationalists will be against any expeditionary force."

"Canadians are an extremely traditional people."

"The prospect (note the word) is internal division on this issue; that will mean the mental and emotional equivalent of civil war. Neither side will back down and the resulting bitterness is going to be serious. We must face the facts some time. Let us face it now."

Mr. Editor, can we be informed who these so-called Nationalists are? The good Old Book says "Blessed are the peacemakers," but it is evident that statements of this nature savor of Communism, Fascism, misunderstanding and strife.

SAANICH ELECTIONS

Sir,—I wish, through the medium of your column, to express my sincere thanks to the electors of Ward Five, Saanich, especially those who worked so faithfully on my behalf.

J. OLIVER.

East Saanich Road, Saanich, B.C., January 26, 1937.

An English party, on a visit to Switzerland, wanted to climb a small peak in the district.

It was considered an easy climb, but a guide was engaged, and on the morning one of the party turned up with a rope.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist of January 28, 1887.

The Drydock M. Connolly, of Larkin, Connolly & Co., drydock contractors, who arrived on Tuesday from Quebec, states that work is now complete and has a photograph of a ship in position in the dock. The company have tenderers on several other important works, including the Cape Breton railway, and are otherwise preparing for a big season's work. The caisson chamber is expected to be floated into position at the Esquimalt dock in about six weeks' time, when the cofferdam will be removed, and that important work to this province will then be completed. Should the C. & E. Railway scheme be so placed as to enable work to be commenced, British Columbia may again be the scene of operations for a company of contractors who are noted the Dominion over for their sterling qualities.

Sabbath School Anniversary.—The Gorge Road Sunday school anniversary, which took place last Wednesday evening, proved to be a very successful one so far as the part contributed by the children was concerned. This school has only been a little over one year in existence, and during that time its numbers have increased from forty-five to one hundred and thirty-five. Judging from the secretary's report, considerable progress has been made in providing aids for instructing the children. We note that a very handsome library has been obtained. E. J. Gray, the superintendent, deserves great credit for the present prosperous condition of the school.

He Missed Baseball Fame

It's a pity that Hal Chase is not eligible for baseball's "Hall of Fame," which will be dedicated in Cooperstown when it is completed. The selection is near completion, but still a first baseman, a third sacker, a catcher and another pitcher is needed to finish off the team of "all-time." The selection of the first baseman is still in doubt, but there would be none if Hal Chase had not put himself on the "spot" during the world series scandal of 1919 in which the Chicago White Sox threw the honors to the Cincinnati Reds for a paltry sum. Hal, you know, really got his start right here in Victoria, as a member of the local squad back in the "good old days," when such well knowns as "Giddy" Goward, Bernie Schwengers, Jack Rithet, Fred McConnell, Jimmy Holness, George Burnes and many others, all still living, were at their best. Chase was brought up from California and performed at Oak Bay Park for the locals at first base, pitcher, behind the bat and anywhere he was placed. When he went to the New York Giants with the late John McGraw at the helm, Hal soon developed into the greatest first baseman the game has ever seen, or ever will see, but his trouble in later years puts him automatically off the list for the "Hall of Fame." It's too bad, but that's the way they select these teams and nothing can be done to wipe out the past. But Chase was peer of them all, despite the black mark against him. —J.D.

Why Not Do It?

Broadcasts of local boxing and wrestling bouts are popular with radio fans all over the city, and they certainly should be. To the fans who sit in on the shows at the Tillicum gymnasium the continual talking must be annoying. The construction of a small broadcasting booth would not cost much money, but it would certainly make it better for the announcer and the fans who attend the shows.—S.T.

They Ran Into Snag

Things were going nicely with the City Council's seventy-fifth anniversary celebration committee, headed by Alderman Tom Hawkins. After numerous meetings, at which every angle of the forthcoming celebration was delved into with gusto, the committee decided to start the festivities with a grand ball. The more they discussed it, the more members approved of the idea of holding such a function on the evening of King George VI's Coronation Day. Blithely, the chairman visited a hotel to reserve the ballroom and make preliminary arrangements. He was astounded to learn the ballroom had been collared by a small organization for the important night, so it could put on a dance for profit. In fact, a reservation had been made many months before. So the chairman politely visited directors of the organization to see if it would be possible for them to give up the ballroom. He told us he was treated almost rudely and given a thunderous "no." Then the committee got busy and composed a nice "please" letter to the organization. Another most definite "no" was brought by the postman. We think in fairness to the city, which within a few months will celebrate the important anniversary of its incorporation, directors of the organization should change their minds and give City Fathers of historical old Victoria first whack at the ballroom . . .

A City Hall clerk for some time drove to work in an automobile with a machine gun bullet on the radiator cap for an ornament. Finally his boss became tired of gazing at the war-like device through the window. He took the clerk out and bought him a second-hand ornament for fifty cents. Now both are happy.—G.B.

Spallumcheen

(An old resident of Spallumcheen writes to The Colonist asking why no attention is paid to that place by the Provincial Government. He claims there is no police protection and no repairs are made to the roads.)

What does this mean? Deserted, overlooked.
We should be sorry if your goose is cooked . . .
Spallumcheen.
No road repairs! No vigilance or law!
The Government is lax, perhaps it never saw
Spallumcheen.
Forgotten! Never touched by kindly fate;
Spallumcheen.
What can be done, neglect has been so long?
Spallumcheen.

What About It George?

Victoria has been passed up on many occasions . . . Our athletes have been credited to other cities, but when the Canadian school atlas credits our fair city with being a suburb of Vancouver, then it is time something was done to show the rest of Canada that our town is inhabited. In the latest edition of the atlas, which is used in all our Canadian schools, Victoria is listed in the index as Victoria, Vancouver, B.C.—W.I.F.

CHURCHES HOLD ANNUAL MEETINGS

At the annual meeting of the choir of Wilkinson Road United Church, E. Boorman presided in the absence of the president, who was prevented through illness, from attending. An encouraging report was presented by the secretary-treasurer, which showed sustained interest and a small credit balance at the end of the year.

Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. G. Jones; vice-president, A. E. Campion; secretary-treasurer, Miss Myra Hodgson; choir leader, W. D. Phillips; organist, Miss Margaret Pringle; librarian, H. Smith; executive of music committee, Miss M. Pringle, D. W. Phillips and E. Boorman. Arrangements were made for a vesper hour, to be held in the City Temple on Sunday, March 7.

The annual meeting of the choir of Garden City United Church was held on Friday evening when encouraging reports were heard from every department, which included honors attained at the 1936 musical festival.

Officers for the coming year were then elected as follows: President, Mrs. M. Pebernat; secretary, Mrs. C. Alexander; treasurer, Mrs. T. Floyd; pianist, Miss Elsie Fryatt; assistant pianist, Jack Allan; social conveners, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. C. Alexander and Miss Olive English; music committee, Mrs. J. Hobden, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Fryatt; flower committee, Mrs. W. Allan. Arrangements were discussed in regard to the vesper hour, to be presented in the City Temple on Sunday, March 7, in co-operation with Wilkinson Road and St. Aidan's United Church choirs.

The time used is Pacific standerd for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

Reports Indicate Central Exchange Did Splendid Work

During 1936 There Were 729 New Cases Placed on File, States Mrs. Kenneth Barr, Secretary, in Annual Statement—Board Members Named

THERE were 729 new cases placed on file in the offices of the Central Exchange during 1936, Mrs. Kenneth Barr, secretary of the exchange, reported yesterday in submitting her statement to the annual meeting of the organization held in Spencer's dining-room.

In the past year, Mrs. Barr said, four agencies used the exchange. There were 932 inquiries for information, of which 561, or 60 per cent, were on cases known to other agencies. There were 1,436 registrations, of which 711 were identified as being known to other agencies.

STATISTICAL REPORT

"There were 729 new cards placed on file in 1936. This figure is significant in that it represents the number of families who last year were assisted by a social agency for the first time," Mrs. Barr reported. There were 8,259 cards in the file. Of these, 4,475 are known to one agency; 875 known to three agencies; 1,604 known to two agencies; 610 known to four agencies; 315 to five agencies, and so on, up to one case registered by fourteen agencies, she stated.

A new service given by the exchange during the year was the inter-city inquiries plan. Families who once resided in Victoria who now seek assistance of some kind from a social agency in another city can be checked. This enabled the local agency to supply adequate information to the other group, thus allowing a more intelligent handling of the cases.

AIMS OUTLINED

In her six and one-half-page report, Mrs. Barr outlined the aims of the organization. She pointed out that the exchange served three purposes. It prevented overlapping, duplication of money and effort. "The opportunity of bringing agencies in contact with each other, to give service to families, is the main purpose," she declared.

The exchange secured information necessary for agencies wishing to help, thus saving families the embarrassment of repeating their stories.

Speaking of the promotion of co-operation between social agencies advocated and advanced by the Central Exchange, Mrs. Barr said: "Perhaps the most significant factor in the promotion of co-operation among social agencies is the very existence of the exchange. For certainly the exchange in itself implies that certain agencies stand ready to pool their knowledge and experience. The exchange becomes, therefore, the one medium that all the agencies have in common, and it is the tool that makes co-operation possible. Without this exchange there could be no such thing as co-operation, and without co-operation it is difficult to imagine social case work. Through the use of the exchange there grows an awareness of the work of other agencies—it does not mean that one agency is better than another, but that one type of service might be more suitable for a particular case, and by finding out all who are interested in a family or individual, and by knowing all the resources available, the agencies may work together to make the best plan for the client.

SAVED TRIPS

"Through the use of the exchange, clients and workers are sometimes saved many weary trips, looking about for an agency to supply their needs. Through the exchange, the case may be referred at once to some one who has a knowledge of the problem and is best suited to solve it. However, if the exchange is to promote co-operation to the fullest degree, it imposes an obligation on its members. It is by no means sufficient for an organization to inquire about a family, they must not only inquire, but register—imagine the disasters that might, and sometimes do occur, when an agency inquires but fails to register."

In her report, Mrs. Barr also stated:

"A question frequently asked is How does the exchange operate, and how is it financed?

The exchange is a private agency, serving the entire community. The board of directors is composed of representatives from all groups in the community. It is financed by grants from the four municipalities, and by contributions from the agencies using its services."

TRIBUTE PAID

In closing, Mrs. Barr paid high tribute to Miss Kathleen Swayne and Miss Margaret Hall for their valuable help as volunteers.

F. E. Winslow, president, spoke briefly at the outset of the meeting. He said the outstanding work of the Central Exchange in 1936 was the formation of the Council of Social Agencies. He traced its rise here since last April.

He stated the board was highly pleased with the economical running of the exchange, but appealed for more use of the exchange.

FINANCIAL REPORT

J. H. Creighton, superintendent of welfare for British Columbia, read the financial report, which showed a balance.

The following organizations will be represented on the board of the Central Exchange during 1937, it was announced by Hew Paterson, chairman of the nominating committee: City Welfare, Children's Aid Society, superintendent of welfare for British Columbia; Friendly Help Welfare Association; Saanich and Esquimalt Friendly Help Associations; Junior Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital; Victorian Order of Nurses; Y.W.C.A.; Remembrance Day Committee; Catholic Women's League, and the Municipality of Oak Bay.

CRITICIZES GOVERNMENT

Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., Addresses Conservatives On Recent Session

Criticism of the Provincial Government for an expenditure of $125,000 for an additional session of the Legislature, for the express purpose of granting some $690,000 relief to British Columbia municipalities, was made by Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., in an address to Ward Five Conservatives in the Campbell Building here last night.

Mr. Anscomb was dealing with some of the highlights of the recent session and contended the cost of the session was not warranted in the circumtances.

COST OF GOVERNMENT

Speaking generally on the cost of government in the province, Mr. Anscomb said: "Let me say that I have repeatedly stated, both in and out of the House, that if we ever hope to bring this province back to so-called normal times, we must drastically reduce the cost of government and I have not changed my ideas one iota in that regard. We have got to start at the top and work down. I have repeatedly stated that the number of members of the Legislature should be reduced from the existing forty-eight to not more than twenty-four or thirty at the outside."

Mr. Anscomb stated he believed the reduction in the number of members would eliminate to some extent the demands upon the Government for expenditures of public moneys in constituencies that were not necessary.

INCREASE IN DEBT

Dealing with the budget, Mr. Anscomb mentioned the increase in the gross debt of the Province from March, 1934, to October last of $16,000,000 and said that, in addition to the increase, the sinking funds were short some $10,000,000 as at November 1, 1936. "That is not what you might call a very healthy financial condition, is it?" Mr. Anscomb remarked.

This condition, Mr. Anscomb said, was brought about in spite of the fact that Provincial revenues were the highest in the history of the Province. "As a matter of fact, at no period has this Government provided any sinking funds, except those covering the inscribed stock issued in England, which is a trifling amount — neither has it allowed for any of the unemployment costs. It had borrowed all the latter from the Dominion Government and we now owe Ottawa some $30,000,000, equal to one-sixth of the entire Provincial debt, and the Government seems to think that some day, somehow, the future will be able to pay for it. I am convinced the cost of unemployment should be met each year in exactly the same way as education or anything else," the speaker stated.

DEBT REFUNDING

Mr. Anscomb criticized the amendment to the Municipal Act dealing with refunding of municipal debts. "A general power has been given every municipality in the province, whether in bad financial shape or not, to refund its debts, providing it can secure the approval of 51 per cent of its bondholders. It can be done regardless of the remaining 49 per cent. This is an extremely vicious principle and one that, in my opinion, should never be given by any Government to a junior department of government. To provide such an escape from a legitimate obligation to those who are in proper financial condition is nothing more than criminal in my opinion," Mr. Anscomb claimed.

ALBERTA BONDS

The speaker said, in connection with bond dealings, that the Workmen's Compensation Board held $1,200,000 of Alberta securities, almost exclusively 4½ per cent. "As you know, the Government of Alberta has partly repudiated—they have actually repudiated one-half of the interest payable on these loans. Now, I contend it was common knowledge for many months that Premier Aberhart would do something of the kind and that a wide-awake board would have liquidated such securities before he had time to act, but such was not done." Mr. Anscomb said he believed the loss to the board would be around $30,000 annually. He also dealt with the wide ramifications of the so-called repudiation.

Mr. Anscomb discussed the budget at some length and reviewed departmental expenditures. He also briefly reviewed the various bills before the last session of the Legislature and introduced his address with an explanation of the rules and regulations governing the sessions of Legislatures.

The member for Victoria was introduced by Hubert Lethaby, chairman of the ward. R. A. Wootton gave an inspiring address on the Conservative policies, loyalty to party and duty to the country. He paid tribute to the work of Dr. F. P. Patterson, leader of the provincial Conservatives.

AGAIN HEADS SCHOOL BOARD

Walter P. Jeune Is Elected Chairman of Saanich Trustees for Fourth Term

TRUSTEE W. P. JEUNE

Trustee Walter P. Jeune was last night elected chairman of the Saanich School Board for his fourth successive term, at the first meeting of the 1937 board.

Trustee Jeune was named chairman of the board following the death of Trustee W. W. Duncan two and a half years ago. He was re-elected in 1935 and 1936 as board chairman.

At the outset of last night's session, Captain George MacGregor, former reeve and school trustee of the municipality, swore in Trustees William Tomes and Nat Gray; recently re-elected by acclamation. In a short address, Captain MacGregor extended his best wishes for continued harmony on the school board.

FINE BOARD

"You may get criticism from some quarters, but forget it. The majority of the ratepayers of Saanich think we have a splendid school board," he declared. Captain MacGregor related several stories pertaining to early days of the Saanich School Board.

The following standing committees for the year were selected: Finance, Trustee William Tomes, chairman, and the whole board. works and grounds, Trustee Albert E. Hull (chairman) and Trustees F. G. Aldous and William Tomes; health and morals, Trustees Nat Gray and Tomes, and athletic, Trustees Gray and Hull.

Supervision of various schools was allotted as follows: Keating, Saanichton, North Saanich and Mount Newton High School, Trustee Gray; Prospect Lake, Royal Oak and Strawberry Vale, Trustee Hull; Telmie, Mount View High School and Cloverdale, Trustee Tomes; Mount Douglas High School, Cedar Hill and Gordon Head, Trustee Aldous; and McKenzie Avenue, Tillicum and Craigflower, Trustee Jeune.

Meetings will be held the first and third Wednesdays of each month, as formerly, with the first meeting for general board work and the second as a finance committee session.

Trustee Jeune told the board members that the re-election of Trustees Tomes and Gray was an expression of confidence the people of Saanich felt for the board. He said such expressions would spur the board on to further activities.

In asking Captain MacGregor to officiate at swearing-in ceremonies, Trustee Jeune declared the board was saluting those men who had served the municipality well in past years. Two years ago, Harry Tanner had officiated, while last year Frank V. Hobbs swore in the incoming trustees.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Criminal Appeal Is Delayed Until Next Sitting to Correct Error

In the Court of Appeal yesterday, members of the court heard W. W. B. McInnes make an appeal for Joe Ferraro, who had been convicted in Vancouver and sentenced by Mr. Justice Manson to seven years on two counts, one of having conspired to distribute narcotics and the other of having distributed narcotics.

Mr. McInnes said that there was evidently a stenographic error in the judge's report. The report of the one count was correct, but in the other there had been a mistake.

G. S. Wismer, K.C., for the Crown, agreed that there had been some mistake made and the suggestion was made that the situation might be taken up with the trial judge looking to the rectifying of the error. In view of this, the appeal was allowed to go over until the next sitting of the court, which will be held in Vancouver.

WINTRY WEATHER COVERS DISTRICT

Strong North Wind Brings Snow Flurries and Lower Temperatures in City and Vicinity

Wintry weather returned to Victoria and vicinity yesterday on the heels of a twenty-mile-an-hour north wind that carried flurries of snow towards evening and sent the mercury tumbling below the freezing point and brought near-blizzard atmosphere.

The forecast for the next twenty-four hours, timed from 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was: Fresh to strong north and east winds; partly cloudy and cold, with probable snow flurries. The reappearance of Winter after a day or two of above-freezing temperatures sent citizens back to the coal bins and woodpiles for fresh supplies for furnaces and stoves.

The minimum temperature yesterday was 31 and the maximum 34, according to the official weather bulletin issued at the Dominion Meteorological Observatory. It was 30 degrees on the grass and there was no sunshine at all. The barometer reading was 29.70.

Higher temperatures were reported from points in Saskatchewan but colder weather was general over Alberta, with Edmonton registering the lowest—22 below zero.

Canada Life

Annual Report Reflects Improving Conditions

In addressing the Annual Meeting of Shareholders and Policyholders on Jan. 21, Mr. Leighton McCarthy, K.C., President, said in part:

"Canada has during the last few years been steadily climbing the somewhat steep ascent leading out of the Depression which enveloped her and other parts of the world. Now she appears to have successfully reached a point from which can be viewed, as in panorama, the foundation for such faith, hope, courage and confidence as is evidenced by this and other Annual Reports of Financial and Industrial Institutions which have been recently presented to various bodies of Shareholders.

We are thus—unless overindulgence creates another attack of indigestion, which God forbid!—led to believe that Canada is entering upon another era of prosperity."

Mr. A. N. Mitchell, Vice-President and General Manager, who also addressed the Meeting, stated:

"No country is more richly endowed with natural resources than Canada. Each year shows new records in their development. These resources were not lost during the depression. Their development may have been momentarily retarded but the ability to create new vast wealth from agriculture, fisheries, forests and mines is still as great as ever. . . .

". . . Our predecessors and ancestors in this country fought the forces of nature to produce for us an opportunity such as has been given to few people in the history of the world. If we have inherited the characteristics of our forefathers — and I believe we have — our present problems will not be solved by evading them. They will be solved by using the resources bequeathed to us in such abundance and by using the brains, brawn and courage also bequeathed us to develop them. Our salvation will not be found through arbitrarily destructive laws. It will be found in progressive thinking and a determination to build a better and greater Canada — or in other words, in the individual initiative and courage of our citizens.

"The difficulties need not be minimized. I believe our people, both debtors and creditors, if properly led, have the courage to approach them as problems to be solved through the application of that common sense and common honesty which produces a true co-operation.

"Sectional prejudices have no place in such a common sense co-operation. Certain sections of our country are facing difficulties not felt by other parts and true advancement can only be made when all parts of the country are working together to eliminate these difficulties. It would seem essential, therefore, that some means should be set up at an early date to properly analyze these difficulties and to attempt to find some means by which all could co-operate in a common sense solution of the troubles.

"It seems evident that such an answer should be sought by some properly appointed body representing the country as a whole and which will have the backing of public confidence because of its personnel. If there are injustices in our methods of taxation, or distribution of taxes, or in our allocation of governmental powers, these injustices should be wiped out. If the statement being made that these injustices exist is incorrect, then some authoritative method should be found of correcting the misapprehension. Now that we have in many parts of the country evidence of growing prosperity the questions could be more easily faced, and any sacrifices required more readily absorbed."

During its 90 years of service, the Canada Life has been privileged to act as the medium through which hundreds of thousands of policyholders in all walks of life have co-operated to build up a fund mostly out of small savings, to be returned later as benefits to themselves or their beneficiaries.

Assets accumulated in this way crossed the $250,000,000 mark in 1936. This large sum is necessary in order to meet the requirements of the $814,000,000 of life insurance now in force, which includes over $57,000,000 of new paid life insurance entrusted by clients to the care of this Company during the past year.

In Canada and the United States an increase of over 20% in new paid ordinary life insurance was effected as compared with 1935.

The effect of these co-operative efforts through the years since 1847 is best evidenced by the fact that the Canada Life has paid to policyholders, annuitants and beneficiaries, or has accumulated on their behalf more than $600,000,000, a sum which exceeds the total premiums received during the Company's existence by more than $50,000,000

In 1936 alone, the Company paid the very large amount of over $26,000,000 to its policyholders, annuitants and beneficiaries. These payments amounted to an average of $2,202,877 every month, or $505,578 every week. Living policyholders and annuitants received $18,900,000, or 72% of the total paid.

Such payments have brought a measure of comfort and security into hundreds of thousands of homes — have been the means to a happy retirement for thousands of policyholders themselves.

PRESENT PLAYS BEFORE MEMBERS

Members of the Victoria Little Theatre Association held their first meeting in their new hall, 1249 Rockland Avenue, Tuesday evening, with a large attendance, including several new members. Following the business session, two short plays were given.

A bridge party will be held in the new hall on Tuesday, February 9, with Miss Mae Murray as convener. The committee will consist of Mrs. David Whyte, Miss V. Beek, Miss H. Harfield and Miss I. Williams. Contract and auction bridge will be played, and reservations may be made by telephoning Miss Murray at E 3749, or Mrs. Whyte at G 4018. Members and their friends are invited.

The programme opened with a selection by the orchestra. A one-act comedy play entitled, "Enterprising Oswald," and written and directed by Reby Edmond, local playwright, was presented. The cast included Mrs. Betty Hetherington, Miss K. Johnson and D. McDonald. The dogs used in the play were loaned by the Pet Shop. Miss Eva Milne gave a tap and toe dance between plays.

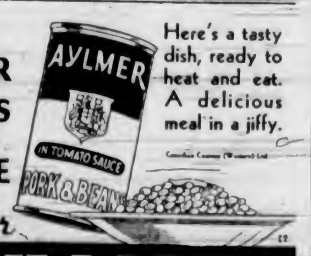

The characters in the second performance were Miss Margaret Swanson, H. S. Hurn, E. McLaren, D. McDonald, Frank Taylor, Leo Marston and Miss C. Holmes. It was entitled "Ore," and was written by Arthur Dawe, and directed by Arthur Kerr.

Extensive improvement has been made to the stage of the new hall, with adequate lighting and footlights. A proscenium arch has been built and other minor improvements made.

Great Year Experienced By First United Church

More Than $24,000 Raised by All Departments—$8,400 Given to Missionary and Extension Work—Officers Are Returned

A total income in 1936 of nearly $24,000, of which more than $8,400 was for the missionary and extension work of the United Church of Canada, was reported at the annual meeting of the First United Church, held last evening. There was a net gain during the year of fifteen in membership, which now stands at 1,576, the average attendance at the quarterly communions registering 1,047.

There is no debt upon the church property, a mortgage of $4,500 having been cleared off last January. The sum of $531 was paid on the organ liability, which now stands at $4,600. The next project in building is adequate Sunday school premises, to be located on the north side of the church. Nearly $1,000 has been subscribed for this purpose.

This congregation uses the duplex weekly envelope system of supporting its local and mission work, the proportion of which stands at 524 and 401 for the respective objects.

RETURN OFFICERS

Expressing confidence in their leadership, the congregation returned to the board of management the following, who had completed their term of office: Mrs. A. S. Christie, W. F. Adams, Robert Morrison, F. M. McGregor, S. J. Drake, W. McGlashan and J. A. Barnwell.

The ushers were thanked for their work and Walter Fletcher was renamed chief usher.

On behalf of the congregation, Alex McKeachie expressed gratitude and appreciation of the work done during the year by Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, Rev. E. W. Horton and Rev. Dr. Simon Fraser. Dr. Fraser was added to the ministerial staff last August and is the regular pastoral visitor, while the senior minister, Dr. Wilson, specializes in visitation of the sick and shut-ins. Mr. Horton devotes himself more particularly to Sunday school and young people's activities.

Tribute was also paid to W. F. Robinson, church officer, for his faithful service.

PRAISES DEPARTMENTS

Dr. Wilson had praise for all departments, especially the choir, which he said had helped him greatly in Sunday services. He also extolled the quality of the singers and the choice of their music.

J. W. Gibson reported the new hymnals would be ready for February 7.

The choir, under the leadership of W. C. Fyfe, with George H. Peaker as organist, was highly praised for regular attendance and efficient and devotional service. The work of the Sunday school staff, the superintendent of which is Professor E. S. Farr, was warmly commended. It paid $300 into the organ fund.

The Women's Missionary Society, of which Mrs. A. Chisholm is president, had an income last year of $1,491. The Golden Link Auxiliary, of which Miss Jean Polson is president, raised $360, and the "Gleaners" Mission Circle, with Miss Gladys Schroeder as president, contributed $65, and the Junior Mission Band, with Grant McKinnon as president, and Mrs. M. Naismith as leader, gave $30.

DID GOOD WORK

The Women's Association General Council, of which Mrs. A. S. Christie is president and Mrs. A. T. Hunkin secretary-treasurer, and which is composed of three groups, donated about $830 to various objects, and carried on sick visiting and general social activities.

The various departments of the Sunday school were reported as in good condition under their respective superintendents.

A new organization was listed during the year, the Christian Forum, a young people's group devoted to study and discussion. The president is Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson.

In connection with the anniversary services, Rev. Dr. Willard Brewing, Vancouver, will preach next Sunday; Rt. Rev. Peter Bryce, moderator of the United Church of Canada, will be present on February 7, and Very Rev. Cecil S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, will speak from the pulpit on the following Sunday morning.

LECTURER ENDS POETRY COURSE

Miss Marjorie Gullan Gives Final Public Address for National Council

For an audience of poetry enthusiasts and lovers of "The Magic of the Spoken Word," Miss Marjorie Gullan, director of studies at the Speech Institute of London, England, last evening, at the Empress Hotel, made the last of her series of talks in Victoria under the auspices of the local branch of the National Council of Education.

Following very much the same lines as she adopted the previous evening in her public address at the Girls' Central School, Miss Gullan gave a very brief prefatory talk on poetry, its history, development and significance in the language. Each phase in its development was again aptly illustrated, with a short comment on the special character or feature of each. In some instances her comments were in themselves cast in very beautiful form, as, for example, when she spoke of "The Reaper" and the mental picture which this conjured forth.

Again, too, her beautifully modulated tone, clean-cut diction, rhythmic phrasing, and generally finely expressive treatment made the interpretations memorable.

THE PROGRAMME

Among the songs, ballads and prose-poetry passages which she recited in the course of her programme were the following:

Keats' "Endymion," "Spring" by Nash, "Sweet Content," "Sweet Herbs," "Holly and Ivy," "The Cherry Tree," "The Twelfth Day of Christmas," one of Milton's sonnets and two Shakespearean; three short lyrics, including Wordsworth's "Reaper"; Blake's "Tiger," "She Was a Spirit of Delight" (Shelly); a group of children's poems, "Primrose," "Puffin," "Jonathan Ring" and "The Gypsies"; Irish poems, "A Sermon," "Tim, an Irish Terrier," and "Me Grannie"; "The Wee Cooper of Fife," illustrating Scottish dialect; a group of modern, chief among which was the arrestingly-beautiful "The Man Upon the Cross"; an excerpt from "The Magnetic Mountain," and, to close, some famous literary passages from the Bible, including the dirge beginning "And David lamented with this lamentation," the story of the death of Absalom taken from Isaiah, and the great sermon on Charity taken from First Corinthians, Chapter 13, beginning "Though I speak with the tongues of men and angels and have not charity."

Albert Sullivan, chairman of the Victoria branch of the National Council of Education, and Mrs. Allon Peebles shared the duties of introducing the speaker. At the close of the programme, Mrs. Curtis Sampson, convener of the hospitality committee of the National Council, presented Miss Gullan with an armful of carnations and roses, after Mme. Sanderson-Morgin had expressed the thanks of the audience and the appreciation of the students who composed the afternoon classes conducted by the lecturer during her stay in the city.

EMPLOYEES WIN STRIKE

TOLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 27 (AP).—The six weeks' strike of 7,100 employees of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company ended late today with approval by the union committee and company officials of a wage agreement giving a flat eight-cent-an-hour increase in all plants of the company.

NAME ROOSEVELT AS CANDIDATE FOR PRIZE

HAVANA, Jan. 27 (AP).—The Cuban Cabinet today unanimously approved President Roosevelt as Cuba's candidate for the 1937 Nobel Peace Prize because of his work for peace in the recent Inter-American conference at Buenos Aires. This was suggested by Rafael Montalvo, Secretary of State.

YOUNG LAWYER ARGUES APPEAL

Court Hears Son of Mr. Justice Murphy at Sittings in Victoria

The Court of Appeal sat late last evening in order that P. J. Murphy, who is a son of Mr. Justice Murphy, might have the opportunity to present his first argument before the court without interruption.

Mr. Murphy made an appeal for Mike Punak, who had been sentenced to seven years with a fine of $500 added, or, in default of the paying of the fine, an additional six months in the penitentiary, with a whipping of five strokes.

Mr. Murphy succeeded to the extent that the court, after consulting some time, failed to reach a conclusion and adjourned its decision until this morning. He argued that the prisoner was only twenty-five years old, was not an addict himself, and that the trial judge had been too severe in describing the prisoner as having dragged his wife into the traffic. He contended that the extreme penalty should only be imposed in rare instances. From the judgments of the Court of Appeal, he quoted decisions to show that that was the opinion of the court.

G. S. Wismer, K.C., for the Crown, submitted that the prisoner sent his wife out to collect the money and took no chance himself.

Announcements

There is an Agony of Mind that only sensitive women who suffer from superfluous hair can understand. They distrust advertisements which offer instantaneous cures, having found the relief merely transitory. They rarely speak of their disfigurement, but just bear it in silence. City and District

Barbed Wire—Barbed wire from the fences around Macdonald and Royal Athletic Parks, was ordered removed yesterday by the city parks committee.

Solarium Meeting — The annual meeting of the Queen Alexandra Solarium board of directors, auxiliary, and subscribers will be held at the Empress Hotel on Monday, February 8, at 2:30 p.m.

Business Meeting—With President H. D. Genn in the chair, a meeting of the Revellers Club was held last evening in Room 225, Sayward Building. The meeting discussed club affairs.

Meeting Postponed — The annual meeting of the Knox Presbyterian Church, which was to be held this evening, has been postponed indefinitely, owing to the ill health of several members of the congregation and inclement weather.

Annual Meeting—The Canadian Pensioners' Association, Victoria branch, will hold its annual meeting and election of officers at 225 Pemberton Building tomorrow at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

French Magazine — The second edition of the French Magazine, published by Victoria High School French Club, was distributed this week. Contributors were Joan Marsh, Dennis Yates, Doris McBain, Jack Ozard and Mora Gay.

Measles Cases—Fifty-five cases of measles have been reported to the city health office since the first of the year. Few additional cases of influenza have been brought to the notice of the medical health officer, common colds continuing to outrun all other ailments.

Street Sanding — In answering criticism over the condition of city streets, members of the executive of the City Council public works committee stated yesterday crossings and hills had been sanded, but the weather prevented the situation from being fully controlled.

Dairymen to Meet—A meeting of the South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association will be held at the K. of P. Hall, Broad Street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, to discuss a matter of interest to all wholesale and retail dairymen. Up-Island shippers are cordially invited to attend.

Is Named Counsel—C. W. Craig, K.C., has been engaged by the Provincial Government to appear in Mainland courts, where milk regulation is under attack, Hon. K. C. MacDonald intimated yesterday. Dr. MacDonald will leave for Vancouver today, in connection with departmental affairs.

Mill Operator Fined—Found guilty in Provincial Police court yesterday of not keeping records of wages paid and hours worked by employees, as required under the Male Minimum Wage Act, John Quinn, Chinese, operator of a shingle mill at Port Renfrew, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Parks Committee — Forty-three applications from youths seeking two apprenticeships in park work, were considered by the parks committee of the City Council, yesterday afternoon. Alderman James Adam, the chairman, announced the committee would meet again at 4 o'clock this afternoon, to go over the applications.

To Address Guild—The regular meeting of the Cathedral Men's Guild will be held in Memorial Hall tonight at 8 o'clock, when Dr. Kaye Lamb, Provincial Librarian and Archivist, will speak on "Some Early Accounts of Victoria." The meeting will be open to any men to whom this subject is of interest, or who would like to attend for other reasons.

School Board—Inclement weather forced school trustees to postpone a tour of inspection of schools and grounds at 1:30 o'clock, yesterday afternoon. Details of work contemplated were to have been discussed during a meeting in the evening, at which preliminary estimates would have also been outlined. The evening meeting will not be held until next Wednesday.

For l'Alliance Francaise—Under the auspices of l'Alliance Francaise, the French Consul-General for British Columbia, M. Pierre Auge, will give an address at Victoria College on Saturday evening on "Old Houses and the Good People of Provence." The proceeds of the lecture will be added to the fund which l'Alliance gives each year in connection with Victoria College.

Fuel Fund — With continued inclement weather, more contributions are needed to furnish extra fuel for needy families, Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the City Council relief committee, announced yesterday. Those able to make donations are asked to visit the relief office at 617 Johnson Street, near the corner of Broad Street, or telephone G 8104.

Club Charter Cancelled — Attorney-General Sloan announced yesterday that the Government had cancelled the charter of the Brunswick Sports Club, at 424 Pacific Building, Vancouver, by order-in-council, at the request of Chief W. W. Foster, of the Mainland city police. The action followed formal request by Vancouver City authorities, it was explained.

Quota Not Filled—With a soft-woods quota in fir and hemlock combined of 250,000,000 board feet, British Columbia shipped only 127,762,298 board feet by water to United States destinations last year, provincial reports disclosed yesterday. This was exclusive of some rail business, described, however, as small. The bulk of the lumber exports went to Empire destinations.

Log Market Active—British Columbia's lumber business is entering 1937 with greatly improved prospects over 1936, provincial forestry officers said yesterday. A year ago there were considerable totals of logs in the water. This year there is no log surplus, and extra camps may be opened to care for the active demand. Most camps are operating, though snowfall has temporarily hindered operations at some points.

Inspect Buildings — Upwards of ninety members of the Ohio Retail Lumber Dealers' Association were in a party that visited Victoria between boats from Seattle yesterday, being entertained by Victoria lumbermen. The party visited the Legislative Buildings, saw a vessel handled in the drydock at Esquimalt, enjoyed a drive about the environs of the city, and concluded with a tea at the Empress Hotel, before their boat sailed for Seattle.

Seek to Collect—The British Columbia Game Board has sent a bill for $210 to each of five persons rescued in a hunting party from Minnesota, who were lost in the mountains near Prince George last year. According to game board officials, relatives of men in the party guaranteed the costs of a search made by Provincial rescue parties. The total bill ran to $1,048, and this has now been divided and sent to each member of the party. Dr. H. H. Liebold, Parkers Prairie, Minnesota, was the leader.

Citizens' Duty—Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the City Council public works executive, yesterday pointed out the duty of citizens in regard to snow and ice, as laid down in Streets Traffic Regulation By-Law, 1929: "Every occupant, and in case there is no occupant, every owner or lessee of every building or land abutting on any sidewalk, shall remove and keep clear at all times all snow, ice and dirt from the sidewalk which abuts or fronts upon such building or land."

Discusses Social Credit — At the weekly meeting of the Douglas Social Credit Group held on Tuesday evening, B. C. Moore, director of organization on Vancouver Island for the Social Credit League of British Columbia, gave an interesting address on "How the Adoption of Social Credit Will Help the Farmer." After this subject had been well discussed, an interesting and instructive discussion on "The Just Price and National Dividend" was initiated by Major Jukes, the chairman. Next Tuesday, Mr. Rouse will speak and lead a more detailed discussion on "The Just Price and National Dividend."

INQUIRY TOLD OF WHIPPINGS

Two Former Inmates of Home of Friendless Give Evidence

BURNABY, B.C., Jan. 27 (CP).—Two former inmates of the Home of the Friendless when it operated an institution in Winnipeg tonight told a Royal Commission investigating the organization conditions they lived under.

A twenty-eight-year-old woman who said she had spent twenty-one years in the home told Commissioner H. I. Bird she had been whipped in the barn of the Winnipeg home and later had been turned out of the West Summerland, B.C., institution for expressing a desire to leave.

GIVEN NO MONEY

When she left the West Summerland home in the Okanagan district the woman said she was given no money but allowed to remove her possessions.

The commission is investigating the institution, which now operates only in Burnaby and at West Summerland.

The woman said she had been put in the Winnipeg home by her mother when seven years old.

When she and three other girls were overheard discussing leaving the home she said they were whipped in a barn with switches. She was eighteen at the time and after the whipping was locked up for six days, she testified.

ANSWER WAS READ

She went to West Summerland when the institution opened there and managed to get a letter out to her mother unread. The answer, however, was opened by Mrs. Crouch (Mrs. Laura Crouch, in charge of the home) and was the cause of her being turned out, the woman declared.

A well-dressed young man told the commissioner he had been put in the Winnipeg home when he was three years old and left in 1929 after it was operating in British Columbia.

His two brothers and two sisters were also in the home, he said, and he made numerous efforts to get them out after he left without success until last year when he was allowed to take one brother from the Burnaby institution. The brother, he said, required medical attention for a throat ailment at the time.

WORKED LONG HOURS

Witness said he left the home at Port Coquitlam, B.C., where it operated for some time, because Mrs. Crouch complained about his work. He said his hours were from 5 a.m. until 10 p.m.

INFLUENZA TAKES TOLL

LONDON, Jan. 27 (CP-Havas).—Deaths from influenza in 122 cities of the British Isles totalled 2,230 for the past two weeks, it was announced tonight. Last week's total was 1,130, an increase of thirty deaths over the previous week.

Arrangements Made for Hospital Linen Shower

Mrs. E. W. Hamber Will Be Guest of Honor at Tea Next Thursday at Royal Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Home

Plans for the annual linen shower, to be held at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Thursday, February 4, were made at the meeting of the Jubilee Hospital W.A. yesterday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, Mrs. L. G. W. Tallamy, the vice-president, in the chair.

The shower will be held in the Nurses' Home, with Mrs. F. C. Dillabough in charge of the linen donations; Mrs. E. Sheppard, assisted by Mrs. Guy Ford and Miss Curry, will have charge of the tea; Miss Alexander will arrange the musical programme, and Mrs. E. A. Griffiths will have charge of the donations in the tearoom.

A SPECIAL GUEST

Mrs. E. W. Hamber has accepted the invitation of the auxiliary to be the guest of honor on the occasion, and those who have been asked to preside at the tea table during the afternoon are Mrs. Lennox Irving, Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. J. D. Hunter and Mrs. R. H. B. Ker.

Gifts of any linen suitable for hospital use will be most acceptable, and Miss Mitchell has specially requested gifts of pillow slips, bath and face towels, face cloths and glass towels.

MEMBERSHIP DUES

It was reported that 230 pieces had been finished during December and January by the sewing committee. Mrs. P. E. Taylor reported that the sum of $16 had been received in dues from Mrs. Bartholomew, Mrs. Crow Baker, Mrs. Archer Martin, Mrs. Alex Gillespie, Mrs. A. Coles, Mrs. Gordon Sloan, Mrs. F. W. Hartley and Mrs. H. G. Wilson.

A bill for $32 towards the balance of the cost of the obstetrical mannequin given to the hospital by the auxiliary was ordered paid. Letters of appreciation were read from the hospital board, Miss Mitchell and the nurses for Christmas cheer for the patients and staff.

It was reported that Mrs. Dunsmuir's annual Christmas gift had been used to purchase dressing gowns and bedroom slippers, and gifts for men and women patients who might not otherwise ha been remembered.

Auxiliary Formed to Help Work

A ladies auxiliary to the Victoria Musical Festival Association was formed at a meeting held at "Windyhaugh," Fairfield Road, the home of Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie, on Tuesday afternoon.

The object of this auxiliary, it was defined, would be to assist the Musical Festival Association to create a more "festival-minded" attitude on the part of the Victoria public.

Several members of the Festival Association Board were present, and listened with interest to the outline given by Mrs. Gillespie of the many ways by which such an auxiliary could be of assistance to the general committee.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith; secretary, Mrs. P. A. Gibbs; treasurer, Mrs. G. A. A. Hebden; and social convener, Mrs. H. S. Hay.

Mrs. Allon Peebles, president of the Victoria Musical Arts Society, and Mrs. J. O. Cameron, one of the charter members of the Musical Festival Association, were present, the latter being elected honorary president of the newly-formed auxiliary in recognition of her consistently fine support and assistance.

The following were among the invited: Mrs. W. H. Muncy, Mrs. H. Pilmley, Mrs. R. Cox, Mrs. J. H. Delf, Mrs. H. S. Hay, Mrs. R. Felton, Mrs. J. Loudon, Mrs. P. C. Routley, Mrs. G. A. A. Hebden, Mrs. S. F. Bulley, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, and the Misses G. Flinch Page and Dorothy Parsons; and the five ladies representing the Victoria Musical Festival Association. Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie, Mrs. W. H. Radbourne, Mrs. N. E. Fairweather, Mrs. T. Hardy, and Mrs. G. Watt.

To Be Guest of Jubilee W.A.

MRS. ERIC W. HAMBER

Wife of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, has graciously accepted the invitation of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary, to be their guest at tea on the occasion of the annual linen shower to be held at the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' Home on Thursday, February 4.

Women's Institutes

SOUTH SAANICH

The South Saanich Institute held its monthly meeting at the Temperance Hall, East Saanich Road, with a good attendance of members, Mrs. W. W. Mitchell presiding. A letter of thanks was read from the Queen Alexandra Solarium for the donation sent. Arrangements were made to hold a Valentine tea at the next meeting in February. Committees were formed as follows: Sick committee, Mrs. H. Lawrie and Mrs. A. Hafer; schools, Mrs. W. Bate and Mrs. J. J. Young. After the business, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the members. The next meeting will be held on February 18.

VICTORIA

The January ways and means committee of the Victoria Institute have arranged for a court whist card party to be held at headquarters tomorrow, commencing at 2:15 p.m. Eleven tables were in play at the recent bridge and five hundred party when the winners were Mrs. J. The rooms were prettily decorated with artificial flowers, Oregon grape foliage and ivy. Refreshments were served by the committee, Mrs. M. Laird, Mrs. J. Terry, Mrs. H. Coates, Mrs. G. Upward, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Mrs. W. Cull, Mrs. S. Gurney, Mrs. E. Gough, Mrs. T. J. Sadler and Mrs. L. Schmelz.

Equality Is Sought For Women Workers

LONDON, Jan. 27 (C).—If the Open Door Council has its way, the projected Factories Bill to be considered by Parliament at this session will impose no restrictions on women that do not apply equally to men. The O.D.C. complains that "the adult industrial woman wage-earner remains the eternal minor, classed in industrial legislation with the young person . . . and paid at rates below the level of unskilled male labor . . .

"What is needed is a revolution in the status of the woman wage-earner and in our attitude towards her, her work and her worth."

Anglican Young People

ST. JOHN'S

The regular meeting of St. John's A.Y.P.A. was opened by singing the hymn "Thy Hand, O God, Has Guided" and prayer, led by Rev. G. R. V. Bolster. The president, Alan Paver, was in the chair. Misses Kay and Ella Springford, R. Fenion and Mr. King, were welcomed to the meeting. Miss Iris Smith gave her local council report. H. Parrott gave a satisfactory report on the banquet and dance. Stanley Laver and H. Parrott upheld the affirmative in "Resolved, that both sexes give more consideration to appearance than to character in the selection of their partner in life." Miss S. Schofield and V. Varney upholding the negative in this impromptu debate, were victorious. Humorous impromptu speeches were given by Miss B. Forsyth, Miss R. Stone, K. Hall, J. Vesey and V. Varney. The meeting arranged for the Aged Ladies' Home has been postponed. The next meeting will be held in the guild room.

Peerless Fashion Patterns

Edited by LAURA I. BALDT, A.M.

Youthful dress of redingote type in lovely sheer wool-like crepe, is very individual in its use of color in grey with wine. The contrast is most effective.

For variety, you can wear the wine dress without the redingote. The redingote will look stunning over a navy or a black dress.

Black lustrous satin crepe ress with the redingote of the dull surface is distinctive with a touch of exotic color for the belt as Dalmatian orange, raspberry, bright green, gold, etc.

Style No. 3393 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 3-8 yards of 39-inch material for redingote.

The Fall and Winter Fashion Book is filled with lovely designs for everyday wear, which are easy and inexpensive to make.

Bride and Groom Are In Scotland

LONDON, Jan. 27 (C).—The Duke of Norfolk and Hon. Lavinia Strutt, daughter of Lord Belper, were married at Brompton Oratory today in the presence of 2,000 guests.

Wedding of the twenty-eight-year-old premier duke of England and Earl Marshal to his twenty-year-old bride was performed by Father Talbot, a relative of the duke. The marriage was not solemnized by a nuptial mass as the bride has not yet been received into the Roman Catholic Church.

ROYALTY REPRESENTED

Royalty and society were fully represented. The Earl of Athlone and his wife, Princess Alice; Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Dowager Duchess of Buccleuch, mother of the Duchess of Gloucester, attended with members of the diplomatic corps as well as Mrs. Stanley Baldwin and Mrs. Neville Chamberlain.

The bride wore a silver lame cloth wedding gown with a fifteen-foot train. Her veil was of tulle, topped by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried white lilies.

The duke, whose family fortune has been estimated at £10,000,000 ($50,000,000), as Earl Marshal has charge of arrangements for the Coronation next May.

IN SCOTLAND

The bride and bridegroom are understood to have gone to Scotland to begin their honeymoon.

Norfolk House, in London, was at one time regarded as one of the most magnificent private places in England. During the war years, it was loaned as a rest house for Canadian and other ladies from overseas temporarily resident here.

The couple received more than 1,000 gifts, including an oil painting of the duke in hunting costume presented by the King and Queen, and several others.

Noted Guests Are Present At Reception

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 (C).—The Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir tonight received 700 guests at Government House in their second evening reception of the season. Invited guests included Prime Minister Mackenzie King, members of the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps, the Senate, House of Commons, Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff and members of the Supreme and Exchequer Courts, air force and naval officers, Government officials and their wives.

Guests were received in the long corridor of Government House. Subsequently they danced in the ballroom or played cards in the dining-room. A buffet supper was served in the racquet court.

AT RIDEAU HALL

Miss Belinda Boyle, London, daughter of Lord and Lady Trenchard and sister of Captain John Boyle, aide-de-camp to Lord Tweedsmuir, is a guest of Their Excellencies. Air Vice-Marshal W. A. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop arrived today to stay at Government House. Captain Oswald Balfour, a former military secretary at Government House, will arrive tomorrow.

The Governor-General, noted outdoor man on his own Scottish moors, spent last night enjoying a lecture and showing of west coast nature films by Dr. W. L. Finley, Portland, Ore., under the auspices of the Ottawa Field Naturalists Club. Hon. W. Buchan, Miss Boyle and Miss Peyton-Jones accompanied him.

GOES TO QUEBEC

Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of Pensions and Health, has gone to Quebec for the rest of the week. He recently recovered from a serious attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Power accompanied him.

Hon. Charles Stewart, former Cabinet Minister, and Mrs. Stewart have returned from a cruise to Havana. Mr. Justice A. B. Hudson and Mrs. Hudson, who have been in Florida for several months, are in New York, en route home. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Booth, of the noted lumbering family, have gone to New York to sail for Honolulu.

Shrove Tuesday Is Day For Pancakes

Tuesday, February 9, is Shrove Tuesday, familiarly known as pancake day.

Since way back in the distant past, Shrove Tuesday, the last day before Lent, has been a "feast day" and the most popular dish, pancakes. Just when and how this pleasant custom originated is obscure by time, but even in the dim and distant past Shrove Tuesday was a day of feasting and merry-making, and while the years have modified the carnival spirit, the traditional pancake is still happily with us in all its golden brown deliciousness.

Everybody loves pancakes and they are so easy to make, particularly when a prepared pancake flour is used. And pancakes can be prepared in so many different ways! Here are a few recipe suggestions for Shrove Tuesday and the Lenten season that are as delicious as they are delightful.

NUT PANCAKES

Mix one-third cup chopped nuts with one cup of Aunt Jemima Prepared Pancake Flour and one cup milk or water. Stir until smooth. Bake on hot, greased griddle until surface is covered with bubbles; then turn and bake on the other side. Serve with maple syrup or honey.

MINCED HAM PANCAKES

Mix one-half cup chopped ham with one cup prepared pancake flour and one cup sweet milk or cold water. Method: Stir until smooth. Bake on hot, greased griddle until surface is covered with bubbles; then turn and bake on other side. Serve hot with maple syrup.

LOUISIANA WAFFLES

Mix two cups Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour with two cups milk stirring in gradually. Add 4 tablespoons melted butter, yolk of three eggs well beaten. Fold in whites of two eggs beaten stiff. Bake on a hot, well-greased waffle iron.

OLD-FASHIONED PANCAKES WITH MAPLE SYRUP

Add a cup of milk or water to a cup of Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour. Stir briskly, cook for two minutes. Dot with butter and serve with syrup.

"We attribute her healthy condition to BOVRIL"

Toronto, November 26, 1936

"Our 8-months-old baby, Shirley Dorothy, won first prize at the 1936 Canadian National Exhibition Baby Show and we attribute her healthy condition to Bovril.

Before the baby was born, my wife was in an anaemic, run-down condition, weighing only 110 lbs. A friend advised her to try Bovril, which she did, with wonderful results. It increased her appetite, renewed her health and strength; increased her weight; in fact, it gave her a new lease on life, making her more cheerful, full of vim and vigour . .

When the baby was born my wife had gained weight . . and when the baby was 6 weeks old, Bovril was used in her diet, which proved very nourishing and beneficial.

Visitors to Be Welcomed In Spring Gardens Week

Victoria's Spring Gardens Week April 24 to May 1 will, it is expected, attract many garden lovers to the city, and members of garden clubs in the United States have already sent in inquiries about the plans for the week, which are being arranged under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society and sponsored by the management of the Empress Hotel.

An attractive pamphlet has been prepared giving highlights of the week and briefly noting the varieties of flowers which will be in bloom at that season.

GARDENS TO BE OPENED

During the Spring Gardens Week, the exclusive and famous gardens of the district will be opened to visitors, among them being the garden of Lady Barnard, that of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Beaven, where wild flowers of the Island and innumerable varieties of bulbs grow in tree-shaded dells; the beautiful estate, Hatley Park, belonging to Mrs. Dunsmuir; the world-famous gardens of "Benvenuto," the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart, and the eight and a half acres of interest and beauty surrounding the Empress Hotel.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Private hospitality will be extended at the tea hour during the week by many Victoria hostesses. On Saturday, April 24, a Spring flower tea will be held in the blue rotunda of the Empress Hotel. On Monday, April 26, John Grant, F.R.H.S., rock garden specialist, will give an illustrated lecture on "Rock Gardens" in the Princess Louise room of the Empress Hotel. On Wednesday, April 28, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Victoria, there will be a decorated table display in the hotel ballroom.

On Friday, April 30, as a contrast, there will be a display of horsemanship by Victoria riders and a troup of mounted Provincial Police at the Willows.

The week will most appropriately conclude with the Spring Flower Show at the Willows on April 30 and May 1.

VARIED WEAPONS USED IN CAPTURE

through the windows, shattered by bullets, and firemen had played streams from five hoses into the building. Bernard was ready to hear the counsel of the parish priest, Rev. Alphone Doucet.

During his long trek over the snow-drifted highway, Bernard had suffered seriously from frostbite, and an officer said he believed both feet were frozen. First aid was administered in the village school before police started to Quebec with the prisoner who escaped from the Quebec jail Sunday night with Arthur Fontaine, thirty-two-year-old former member of the Foreign Legion. Fontaine was shot to death with Detective Leopold Chateauneuf when police attempted to recapture the pair in a Quebec basement Monday evening.

HAD PLENTY MONEY

Search of Bernard's person turned up $102 in United States currency, distributed about his pockets and in his stockings. His companion in jailbreak had been carrying $37, also in United States money, at the time of their fatal battle with the police in Quebec's West End.

The money was believed by police to have come out of the proceeds of a series of holdups here. At the time of their prison escape, the pair were being held in connection with a $4,500 garage robbery and other burglaries at a laundry and an optical company.

PARTY POSTPONED

The card party which was to take place tonight in Colwood Hall under the auspices of St. John's W.A. has been cancelled due to weather conditions.

Who Has Been Elected President of the Junior V.O.N., Succeeding Miss Jean Lennox, Last Year's President.

Mr. Brown looked at the letter on his desk.

"We are very surprised," it read, "that the money we have demanded so often has not yet arrived."

Turning to his secretary, he dictated his reply:

"Dear Sirs—You do not need to be surprised. I have not sent you the money."

Entertains for Bride-to-Be

In honor of Miss Gertrude McDonald Partridge, a February bride-to-be, Miss Kathleen Brinkman entertained last evening at her home on Chamberlain Street with a delightful shower. The gifts were concealed in a cleverly constructed ship. Later a buffet supper was served from a prettily-decorated table, centred with an arrangement of Spring flowers. The invited guests were Mrs. Frank Partridge, Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. W. J. Brinkman, Mrs. Gleason, Mrs. Whitwell, Mrs. H. B. Hammill, Mrs. J. Lorenzen, Mrs. L. Shanks, Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Slocomb, Mrs. Kempton, Misses Beatrice Mutlow, Peggy Morrison, Eva Ball, Violet Kirby, May Clarke, Nellie MacFarlane, Edith Brand, Ardis Armstrong, Ellen Ward, Myrtle Merkley, Winnie Knapton, Betty Hamilton, Mildred Dickson, Dorothy Locke, Winnifred Brinkman, Kathleen Cowie, Jennie Dickson, Nancy Warwick and Margaret Brinkman.

Entertains Lecutrer

Mrs. Curtis Sampson, convener of the hospitality committee of the Victoria branch of the National Council of Education, entertained Miss Marjorie Gullan and Miss Kirby, of London, England, at her home, Newport Avenue, last evening, following Miss Gullan's lecture on "The Magic of Words," given at the Empress Hotel under the National Council auspices. There were also present members of the general committee and conveners of the various groups associated with the National Council of Education work in Victoria. Following her public lecture at the Girls' Central School on Tuesday evening, Miss Gullan was informally entertained at supper by the chairman of the National Council and Mrs. Albert Sullivan at their home on Richardson Street.

Annual Party

The local Native Sons and Daughters of British Columbia held their annual party last night in the K. of P. Hall, when a most delightful time was spent by the members. Dancing, games and community singing were enjoyed and Mr. Lavery did his one-man-band act, in which he played three instruments at one time. The Native Sons appeared in a novelty comedy act and Don Simpson played the guitar. Miss A. Thain played the piano. Refreshments were served. The party was much enjoyed, the arrangements being in charge of a joint committee from the two Posts and included Miss B. Hawkins, Miss Jean Lorimer, Miss Margaret Andrews, Miss Marjorie Gillies, and Messrs. H. B. Sargison, Fred Waller, L. Westingdale and J. Lorimer.

The Canadian issue is intended to refinance an old loan, not more than half of which was so owned, he asserted.

Senator Davis, Pennsylvania Republican, approving Ellender's proposal, declared "we need a law strong enough to keep countries which haven't paid their debts from tapping the American financial market, either directly or indirectly."

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 27 (AP).—Four union organizers were hurt tonight when the automobile carrying them to Flint from Saginaw after they had been threatened twice by crowds was forced from a pavement and into a tree. Four shots were fired at the car.

Arthur Place, driver of the taxi cab bringing the organizers here, said another automobile full of men crowded him and fired the shots.

Spends Birthday In Lonely Exile

DOORN, The Netherlands, Jan. 27 (AP).—Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, seventy-eight years old, spent his loneliest and simplest birthday anniversary today since he abdicated his German throne and fled into the Netherlands on November 10, 1918.

The ex-Kaiser's congratulatory letters and his gifts from his native land were fewer than in former years. He had only one visitor.

CHAPTER XXII

Dusk was giving way to darkness before Bucky and Murphy reached Toltec. Bucky parked the car on Fort Street a block distant from the number he wanted. At a drug store he telephoned to Judge Lewis. Fifteen minutes later the lawyer joined them.

"What's it all about?" he asked.

"I'll tell you later," Bucky said, and led the way to the rooming-house at 514.

He produced a key and let his friends into the room he had rented.

"Make yourselves comfortable," he told them. "I'll be back in a minute."

Bucky knocked on the door of the rooms occupied by the landlady. "Nobody has approached you since I telephoned?" he asked.

"No, sir."

"Good." He slipped the woman a five-dollar bill. "There will be another if this works out as I hope. All you have to do is to bring him to the door, unlock it, and leave him alone with us."

"There isn't going to be any . . . violence?" she asked.

His smile was reassuring. "I'm not looking for anything like that. Of course, you're not to tell him we are in the room."

Bucky returned to his companions, and turned out the light.

"What's the play-acting for, Bucky?" inquired Lewis, amused.

"I'm expecting a visitor sometime this evening. But he doesn't know I'm expecting him."

"Why the darkness?" the lawyer questioned.

"I don't want to frighten him off."

A moon shone through the window. They could see each other, but not in sharp outline.

"Has the mysterious Mr. Cameron any objection to our smoking?" asked Lewis.

"None in the world. And we can talk if we stop when we hear footsteps in the hall."

Lewis shifted uneasily his heavy body in the chair. "Last time I went with you, Bucky, three anxious gentlemen flung bullets at me."

"I don't think our visitor will start that kind of trouble," Bucky answered. "If he isn't here inside of an hour I'll tell you all about it. I'm a little shy confiding in you, because I don't want to be laughed out of court."

The hour was almost up when they heard a voice. Bucky recognized it as that of Mrs. Minchin, and moved to a place back of the door on swift noiseless feet. A key fumbled at the lock. The door opened. A man's voice said curtly, "You needn't stop, madam."

The visitor waited until Mrs. Minchin turned away before his hand groped for the light switch. Simultaneously the room leaped to light and Bucky slammed the door shut.

For a fraction of a second a startled face stared wildly at those in the room. Then a quick hand threw off the switch and the room was plunged in darkness.

Bucky charged instantly, to prevent a gun getting into action. His arms closed on a thick body and pinned two wrists beneath them. But his opponent showed great strength, and broke the grip. Again Bucky's hands found a hold. A fist beat into his face furiously. He lowered his head and clung tightly to his foe.

They tossed about the room a chair crashing beneath them as they went down. A strong hand gripped at Bucky's throat.

"Let go, Tim!" he shouted, struggling to escape.

Tim released Bucky and fastened on the visitor. The foreman was a man of very great physical power. He dragged his victim up and pinned him against the wall.

"Let me go, you scoundrel!" a voice raged.

"Clem Garside!" cried Murphy, astonished.

From a holster beneath the banker's armpit Bucky removed a revolver. "Let the gentleman go, Tim," said Bucky reproachfully. "I'm surprised at you being so rough with a guest."

Garside glared at one and another. His eyes fastened on the lawyer. "What does this mean?" he demanded.

Lewis was shocked. "I don't know, Clem. It's as much a surprise to me as to you." He turned upon Bucky severely. "Will you tell me, young man, what you mean by this attack on Mr. Garside?"

Bucky straightened his twisted necktie, a smile on his battered, bleeding mouth. "I'll tell you all about it, gentlemen," he said, his back to the door. "It will take a little time. What say we all sit down comfortably and talk it over."

"Get away from that door or I'll fling you out of the window," Garside threatened angrily. "Such damn fool impudence! You'll pay for this, every one of you."

"You can go whenever you like, Garside," said Bucky quietly, his cool face holding fast to the banker. "But don't make a mistake. If you go now, the story will be in the papers tomorrow morning."

"What story?" stormed Garside. "That you and your ruffians assaulted me for no cause, intending to murder me?"

"I expect a reporter would discount that," Cameron replied. "There wouldn't have been any assault if you hadn't turned the light out and reached for a gun. The story would be a lot more interesting than the fairy tale you are suggesting. Maybe you would like to hear it."

"No!" the banker shouted. "Get out of my way!"

"Certainly." Bucky moved aside. "But don't forget to read the paper. You'll find the story on the front page. Probably there will be a photograph of this room, where one of the Valley Bank robbers lived ten days and where you visited him twice secretly."

The words stopped Garside as effectively as a blow in the solar plexus. He stared at Bucky from a grey stunned face. "It's a lie," he said dully.

"There will probably be a photograph of your bank telephone numbetaken from the place where it is scribbled on the wall," Bucky went on. "And the evidence of how you sneaked back to the room to erase the evidence—and got caught before you could do it."

"Lies! All lies!" Garside flung the words out more boldly. He was still groping for a defence, but the native hardihood of the man rallied to his aid.

Bucky showed his fine teeth in a satiric smile. "Perhaps you can explain why you came to this room tonight," he said.

"I can, but I won't," his enemy retorted harshly. "I'll explain nothing to you. Nothing. You come of a rotten tribe, and you're the worst of the lot. I've stood between you and the men who wanted to kill you, but I'll do it no longer." With a violent gesture he seemed to sweep Bucky aside.

"Maybe you can teach them to shoot straighter than they have been doing," Bucky said.

His words reminded Garside of his transferred property. "I'll take my gun," he said bluntly.

Cameron removed the cartridges from the chamber and handed the weapon to its owner. "You may need it," he replied with an acid grin, "if you are not going to stand between me and the men who want me killed."

"I've stood enough from you. All I intend to put up with."

Cameron nodded, his eyes narrowed. "I think I won't take the story to the newspapers yet but keep in my safety deposit box to be given to the press in the event of my sudden death. In the box with it will be a copy of a photograph of the telephone number on the wall, one taken with a powerful lens and quite clear." He added, with cheerful mockery, "I'm sure we have both enjoyed this little reunion, but I feel I ought not to detain you any longer."

Garside strode out of the room.

"How did you know Clem was coming here tonight, Bucky?" asked Lewis.

"I didn't know it. Maybe I had better start at the beginning. Mitchell discovered that McCarthy, alias McCall, who was probably one of the bank robbers, had lived here while in town prior to the hold-up of the Valley." Bucky showed the lawyer the pencilled telephone number. "He also noticed this scrawled on the wall and took a photograph of it, as I did later. Last night he told me he was going to have a talk with Clem today. I checked up, put a detective on the job. He is a man who has been doing quite a bit of work for me since my return to town after the First National robbery. Now Mitchell hates Garside. No your own guessing as to the reason. Clem has done dirt to a lot of men in his time. I know that if Mitchell got into a talk with friend Clem he couldn't keep from telling him how he had the whip hand. At least, I hoped he couldn't. It turned out I was right. He told Garside what he knew and suspected. They had a quarrel. My man heard this from one of the bank employees. I put myself in Clem's place. What would he do?"

"Come to this room and destroy the evidence connecting the robbers with somebody inside the bank," suggested Lewis.

"I figured he would, soon after it got dark. If he came, it would be because he was frightened. So I thought it a good idea to be here, with witnesses."

"Was it wise to let him know the evidence against him before you have nearly enough to convict?" the lawyer asked. "For instance, can you prove he visited McCarthy here?"

"No. That is one of the weak points in our thin case against him. If I had plenty of evidence I wouldn't have told him anything until after his arrest. My thought was to scare him into action. He will have to communicate with McCarthy or some of the robbers. McCarthy is under constant observation. How will Garside try to reach him with a warning? By a wire or phone? All calls and messages will be checked. By going personally to El Paso, where McCarthy is now staying? Risky, wouldn't you say? By air mail? The Government men are watching all letters that go to McCarthy. He can't move without danger, and he has to move."

"At least he thinks he has," Lewis said thoughtfully. "Since he doesn't know you were bluffing when you said you could prove he visited McCarthy. Yes, he has to get McCarthy and the others to disappear—if they were the bandits. Lewis added sharply, "We had better get out of here. Someone may have heard the row and reported it to the police."

"Or Clem's gun-minded friends may arrange a reception for us," hazarded Tim. "Next time they do, you and Bucky may not be so lucky as you were the other night."

"He'll probably concentrate on Tim and me, but I would watch my step if I were you, Judge." The eyes of Cameron were agate-hard. "He's as guilty as the devil, and I don't think he would stop at anything. His story about tonight will likely be that he was decoyed here by a message that information would be given him as to the Valley robbery. You can't prove that isn't true. So why should he worry about you?"

None the less Bucky and Tim drove Lewis to his home and saw him safely behind a locked door, after which they went to the Toltec and called up Mitchell on the house telephone. Five minutes later the amateur and the professional detective were in the latter's room.

"We really came to warn you," Bucky said presently. "Garside will think you and I laid a trap to draw him to the rooming-house. He is going to have to move fast, and he is likely to strike at you as well as at me. Look out for yourself."

The lines of Mitchell's mouth tightened. "Don't worry. I'll take care of myself." He added, with a flare of cold fury, "I'd like to see that whited sepulchre with a rope around h neck on the gallows."

Bucky made no comment. There jumped to his mind a vision of a girl, her golden head lifted gallantly, courage in all her untamed vivid personality. Much as he hated Clem Garside he could not desire to see the spirit of Kathleen forever crushed, her pride trampled down beyond any possible recovery.

The mistress was surprised to find that the banisters on the stairs were coated with dust, and accordingly she called Mary to her and said reprovingly:

"Just look at those banisters, Mary! I don't remember ever seeing them so dusty. When I was at Mrs. Busybody's I noticed that her handrails were clean and smooth, as if they had been polished."

"Yes, mum," answered Mary Ann. "But don't you forget that she's got three small boys."

First Experimental Flights Over Ocean Set for This Year

Monoplane Boats Will Be Engaged in First Instance — Recent Performance of the Caledonia Proves Powers of Craft

LONDON, Jan. 27.—First experimental flights across the North Atlantic ocean, in preparation for establishment of the regular Anglo-American services, will take place in the late Spring or early Summer. They will engage the two Short four-engined monoplane boats, which have been specially fitted with long-range fuel tanks, and probably the Mayo composite aircraft, now scheduled for trial flights in the Spring. By that time, also, the first of the high-speed Albatross four-engined landplanes, built by the De Havilland company, may be ready for the ocean crossing.

POWERS OF CRAFT

The recent achievement of the Caledonia, one of the long-range boats, in flying non-stop nearly 1,700 miles from Alexandria to Marseilles in little more than eleven hours, has demonstrated the powers of the craft in striking fashion. In distance flown the journey is only 200 miles—between seventy and eighty minutes' flying—less than the direct crossing of the Atlantic between Ireland and Newfoundland. True, the westward flight over the ocean may involve flying against a headwind averaging forty miles an hour, but on the other hand the Caledonia was loaded for the Alexandria-Marseilles trip below full capacity with fuel. Mr. Gouge, chief Short designer, has revealed that the maximum non-stop range of the Caledonia is no less than 3,800 miles in still air, while against a steady 40 m.p.h. gale, the craft can fly no less than 2,450 miles at an airspeed of 160 m.p.h. or 2,700 miles at an airspeed of 143 m.p.h.

THE FIVE BOATS

Five of these notable boats, which set new world standards in comfort and performance of marine commercial aircraft, have now left the Short works. Three of them: Canopus, Centaurus and Castor, are engaged in the Mediterranean. The Caledonia is already engaged on long-range flights; either she or her sister craft, Cambria, which is due for launching within the next few days, is likely to make another impressive long flight, though one undertaken in the course of commercial service, towards the end of this month. Fifth is the Cavalier, destined for the New York-Bermuda run, which arrived as ship's cargo at Bermuda a few days ago, and is now being unpacked and got ready for reassembly.

COMPOSITE PLANE

Twenty-three of the Empire boats, including the Cambria, remain to be delivered to Imperial Airways. Most of them will have Bristol Pegasus poppet-valved engines, but a few will be powered with Perseus sleeve-valved engines, twenty-five of which have been ordered by the transport company. Yet another similar boat, modified for its peculiar duties, will be the "bearer plane" of the first Mayo composite aircraft, the British invention that seeks to combine large payload and long range in one and the same airplane by arranging for it to be launched in mid-air from the back of another and much bigger machine. Helped by a substantial sum provided by the Air Ministry, Imperial Airways placed the first order for a Mayo composite airplane, and will be charged with the long-distance airmail experiments for which the craft is chiefly intended.

Makes Flying Pleasant and Piloting Easy

—Flight Photograph.

A Swallow light monoplane, designed and built by the British Aircraft Manufacturing Company, photographed over South London. Powered with a Pobjoy Niagara or Cataract 88-95 horsepower engine, the Swallow reaches a maximum speed of 112 miles per hour, yet lands below fifty miles per hour. It is one of the pleasantest and easiest to fly of the world's light touring planes.

long parcels of the narcotic into the water, where confederates pick it up by dragging from small boats. They believed the opium found today had not been recovered yet by its Canadian consignees.

ENTANGLED IN ANCHOR CHAIN

Eleven Sacks of Opium Picked Up by Japanese Ship's Cable

NEW WESTMINSTER, Jan. 27 (C.P.)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police began investigating of the finding of $50,000 worth of opium, hauled to the surface of the Fraser River here today when it became entangled in the anchor chain of Ss. Gyokoh Maru.

The Gyokoh Maru anchored in the river at 8 a.m. today, waiting for berthing space. When the anchor was raised, the opium, in eleven sacks, was tangled in the chain.

Investigators said it was the custom of opium smugglers to throw

New Exploration Trip Planned by Famous Explorer

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 27 (A.P.)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd said today he would start on a new exploration of the Antarctic as soon as physicians pronounce him recovered from an attack of poisoning resulting from his last trip South.

Sister Ship to Queen Mary Is Taking Shape

CLYDEBANK, Scotland, Jan. 27 (C.P.) — The Cunard-White Star liner "No. 552," sister ship to the Queen Mary, is taking shape here. The vessel's midships and the first bulkheads were erected a fortnight ago.

Day by day plans are drawn up so the builders know if any one section of construction is lagging. Relief gangs are then sent in to bring the backward parts up to time.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN YET

Deaths in Derailment of Train Near Edmonton Now Number Two

EDMONTON, Jan. 27 (C.P.)—Toll of the plunge of a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger coach down a forty-foot embankment reached two early today with the death in Edmonton Hospital of W. F. Bachor, sixty, postmaster at Lavesta, Alta.

Joseph Baur, forty-eight, Onoway, Alta., died from shock thirty minutes after the coach somersaulted down the incline into the Poplar Creek bed near Breton, fifty miles southwest of Edmonton, causing injuries to twenty others besides Bachor and Baur.

Cause of derailment of the passenger coach and five other cars of the Hoadley subdivision local has not been ascertained so far, according to an official railway statement. Badly shattered in its tumble down the embankment, the wooden passenger coach caught fire and was destroyed soon after the last of the victims were helped from the car. The five other cars did not go down the incline.

CUT AND BRUISED

Joan West, ten-year-old Winfield girl suffering from concussion, remained unconscious in hospital. Thirteen others who received minor cuts and bruises were still in hospital, but all were recovering rapidly. Miss West was the only one still in serious condition, officials reported.

Between twenty-four and thirty persons, including Rev. J. A. Wingblade, Social Credit M.P.P. for Wetaskiwin, were riding in the coach when it left the tracks. Mr. Wingblade, who suffered severe scalp wounds, was knocked unconscious. He said he "came to" outside the burning coach and did not know how he got out.

A coal heater in the passenger coach was smashed in the plunge and the car burst into flames almost at once. Stunned passengers and the injured conductor, A. E. Anderson, Calgary, helped extricate the more seriously hurt.

It was the first train ride for the little West girl, who was traveling with her father, Breton B. West.

HEROISM PRAISED

Heroism displayed by Mr. Wingblade and Conductor Anderson was praised today. The former, blood streaming down his face from a five-inch scalp wound, began pulling injured from the burning car as soon as he had regained consciousness. Not until all victims had been removed to temporary hospitals in Breton did Mr. Wingblade relax his rescue efforts.

Conductor Anderson, in the act of selling a ticket to a passenger when the mishap occured, was pinned under a water-cooler and drenched with icy water when the container broke. Although he was coated from head to foot with ice, the conductor continued rescue work until everyone was treated.

FIRST BUREAU OF ITS KIND

Railway Company Combines Several of Former Services at Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—The first information bureau of its kind in Canada will be opened in Montreal on February 1, when the Canadian Pacific Railway puts into operation its new telephone bureau, comprising the latest equipment of the Bell Telephone Company and combining several of the railway's former services.

After more than a year's research work on the part of the two companies, the new apparatus has been installed, a specially trained staff permits twenty-four-hour service, with five girls handling ten trunk lines, giving information on train times, routes and passage, parlor and sleeping car fares.

By means of a novel switching arrangement, immediate connection is made with the sleeping car reservation service if desired. One telephone call will produce the same information under the new system, as two or three under the old.

Naval Seaplanes Making Non-Stop Flight to Hawaii

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 27.—Twelve huge new navy seaplanes were poised here today, waiting word of favorable weather conditions in mid-Pacific for the start of a 2,553-mile non-stop flight to Hawaii, the longest sustained flight of a squadron of seaplanes in aviation history.

STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

Possibility That Waterfront Trouble May End Within Two Days

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27 (A.P.)—Complicated issues in the ninety-day Pacific Coast maritime strike today narrowed to two major questions, which, one union leader said, may possibly be settled within forty-eight hours.

The disputed points were on the handling of cargo of coastwise ships and on wage demands of clerks and checkers affiliated with longshoremen.

Harry Lundeberg, head of the Sailors' Union, told a meeting called by Mayor Angelo J. Rossi: "I believe this thing is pretty close to settlement, possibly within forty-eight hours."

Mayor Rossi agreed, after listening to reports from union and shipowners' representatives, that at least tentative accords appeared near.

TO INCREASE PAY

HONOLULU, Jan. 27 (A.P.). — The Matson Steamship Company announced today that effective Thursday it would increase the pay of its longshoremen from fifty cents to sixty cents an hour straight time and from sixty-five to eighty cents an hour overtime.

The company said that due to increased business, 100 additional men will be hired. A private stevedoring company, employing 300 men, announced similar raises.

Although the West Coast maritime strike has virtually tied up ocean-going commerce here as far as American boats are concerned, Matson longshoremen are at present working Isthmian Line boats.

Collier Beached And Dredge Sank In Canal Waters

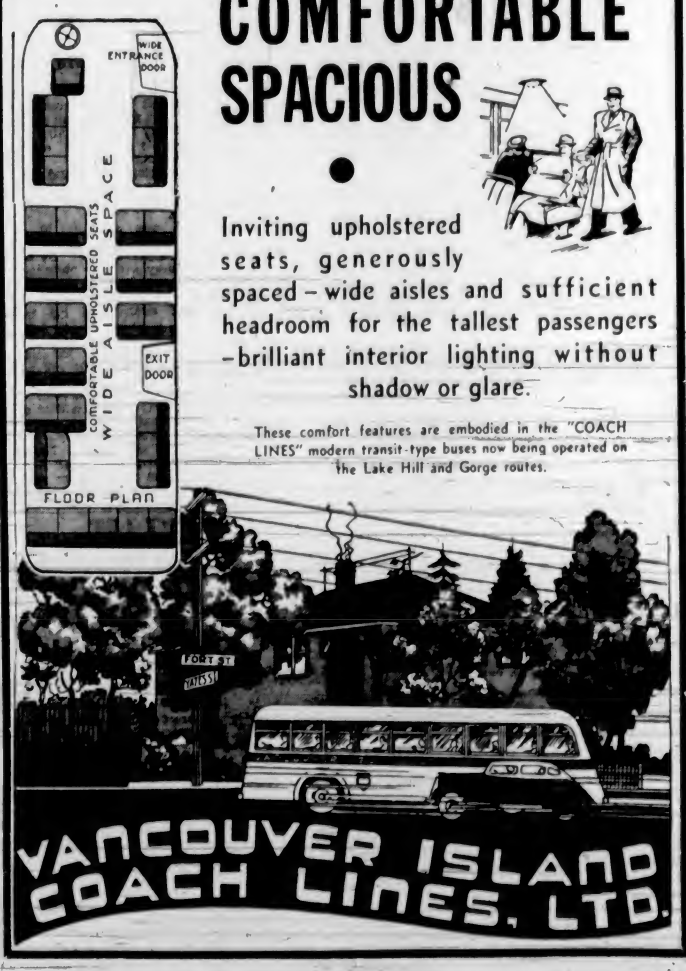

BOSTON, Jan. 27 (A.P.)—The Boston collier, Peter H. Crowell, struck a submerged obstruction and was beached, and the Baltimore-owned dredge Governor Herrick sank, in two separate mishaps in the Cape Cod Canal today.

The Crowell was en route from Norfolk, Va., to Portland, Me., with 4,600 tons of coal. The Herrick was used in widening the canal. Dispatches did not indicate members of the crews of either craft suffered injury.

FRANCIS LEDERER STARS AT PLAZA

Ann Sothern Supports Matinee Idol In "My American Wife," Commencing Today

A light, romantic story, designed expressly for the talents of its stars, is presented in Paramount's "My American Wife," Francis Lederer-Ann Sothern picture, which comes to the Plaza Theatre today.

Lederer, charmingly suave European actor who demonstrated his appeal recently in "One Rainy Afternoon," is cast in the film as a foreign count who marries an American girl, then sets about to prove himself as good an American as her pioneer grandfather, Fred Stone. Miss Sothern, led by the social aspirations of her mother, Billie Burke, insists on keeping her count in braid and spangles, while he wants to don chaps and ten-gallon hats.

Ernest Cossart, peer of all film valets, aids Stone in adding comedy touches throughout, and Grant Mitchell, as one of the sons of the Arizona pioneer, contributes a skilled characterization.

OPERETTA BASIS OF MUSICAL FILM

"The Dancing Duchess," Featuring Hungarian Music, Opens at Oak Bay Today

Based on Emmerich Kalman's Hungarian operetta "Die Csardasfuerstin," the U.F.A. screen production, "The Dancing Duchess," starring Marta Eggerth and Paul Hoerbiger, comes to the Oak Bay Theatre today. This photoplay, which has had enthusiastic appreciation from capacity houses wherever shown, has been secured for one week only for its first Victoria presentation, at this popular theatre.

For its Canadian audiences the film has been edited with explanatory subtitles in English, thus increasing the potential enjoyment of those not familiar with the Hungarian work on which it is based.

The story is briefly as follows: A dashing young Hungarian officer, Prince Edwin Weylersheim (Hans Soehnker), falls in love with, much to his parents' disapproval, the lovely actress, Sylva Varescu. Now, the elderly Count Boni von Kerekes (Paul Hoerbiger), Sylva's staunch friend, had a disappointing marriage with an actress years ago. His advice to Sylvia is to accept an American contract and leave the prince to his noble-born fiancee and his royal family. Finally, after reels of the usual lover's frustrations, the prince and the singer receive the royal parents' blessings.

An added feature of the programme will be the personal appearance daily at 8 p.m. of Selma Reyes, world-famous violinist, who will render selections from her exclusive repertoire.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Atlas—Marion Talley in "Follow Your Heart."

Dominion — "One Way Passage," with William Powell.

WESTERN FILM IS AT COLUMBIA

"Three on the Trail" Stars William Boyd as "Hopalong Cassidy"

Thundering along with the surging sweep of a cattle stampede, punctuated with the bark of six-guns, "Three on the Trail," fifth in the series of "Hopalong Cassidy" adventures to reach the screen, comes to the Columbia Theatre today.

Based on the popular Clarence E. Mulford stories, "Three on a Trail" brings William Boyd back in his role of "Hopalong Cassidy," and Jimmy Ellison as his faithful sidekick, Johnny Nelson. The story shows "Hoppy's" efforts to free himself and Johnny from a false charge of robbery and murder fastened on them by Pecos Kane, crooked gambler, and their thrilling adventures in ridding the country of Kane and his desperadoes.

CAPITOL THEATRE R-K-O Radio's brilliant musical comedy, "That Girl From Paris," showing currently at the Capitol Theatre, starring Lily Pons, Gene Raymond and Jack Oakie. As a world-famed opera star, she flees the altar, flaunts the immigration laws and pursues a handsome young musician who has captured her heart.

ATLAS THEATRE Marion Talley at the age of twelve was entrancing audiences with her singing voice. The actress-singer, appearing in Republic's "Follow Your Heart" at the Atlas Theatre for the last times today, made her starring debut at the Metropolitan Opera House when she was but nineteen.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Mrs. Grouse Tells Her Troubles

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

"Good-morning, Mrs. Grouse," said Jumper the Hare as Mrs. Grouse crept under the low-hanging branch of a hemlock tree where Jumper had been comfortably napping for some time.

"Oh!" exclaimed Mrs. Grouse, looking very much worried and rather frightened. "I didn't know that anyone was here. I beg your pardon. If you don't mind, I'll rest a few minutes and then I'll try to find some other hiding place."

"No need of it! No need of it at all, Mrs. Grouse," replied Jumper politely. "There is plenty of room for both of us here. It is a good hiding place. I use it a great deal. You seem to be worried about something, Mrs. Grouse. With plenty to eat and no family cares this fine Fall weather you ought not to have any worries."

Mrs. Grouse sighed heavily. "True, perfectly true, Brother Jumper," said she. "I ought not to have any worries. I don't believe Old Mother Nature ever intended I should have, no special worries, any way, at this season. This ought to be the glad time for everybody, but nowadays it seems to be the sad time for many of us. Did you hear that terrible gun a little while ago?"

Jumper nodded. He had heard the "Bang! Bang!" very closely, and that was one reason why he was sitting so close under that hemlock branch. Mrs. Grouse suddenly spread her beautiful fan-like tail. There was a gap in it on one side where two feathers were missing. "I lost those when that terrible gun went off," said she, "and it's a wonder that I am here at all to tell about it. If I hadn't managed to get a tree between me and that terrible gun before it went off I probably would be dead this very minute! Worried? I should say I am worried!"

Jumper nodded. He had heard the "Bang! Bang!" very clearly.

There was a world of sympathy in Jumper's soft eyes as once more he understood. "It's getting so that I'm losing my appetite," continued Mrs. Grouse, "and this is the very time when I should be putting on flesh so as to be in the very best of condition for the Winter. I'm sure Old Mother Nature wouldn't allow it if she could help it, but it seems that this is one thing which she cannot help. It isn't right! It isn't fair! Just as if I didn't have worries enough the rest of the year! It's bad enough to have to be on the watch all the time for Reddy and Granny Fox, that fierce old robber the Goshawk, Hooty the Owl and Old Man Coyote. Why, I need eyes in the back of my head to keep out of their ways! In the Winter I must work hard to find food enough to keep me from starving. In the Spring there is my nest to worry about, and all Summer long a big family to watch over and teach to take care of themselves. If anybody ever needed a rest and had earned it, it is I. But here it is, the one season in all the year when there should be nothing to worry about, and along come these hunters with terrible guns, and I don't feel safe a minute while there is daylight. I tell you—listen! Isn't that someone coming this way?"

Poor Mrs. Grouse shivered and looked more frightened than ever. She half spread her wing as if to fly. "Sit still," whispered Jumper. "Sit perfectly still. He doesn't know we are here, and he won't if we make no noise."

BUILDING AREA BEFORE COURT

Dispute Over Shaughnessy Heights Is Heard in Court Of Appeal Here

The question as to whether a building for commercial purposes, rather than as a purely residential one, could be constructed on the northwest corner of Granville Street and King Edward Avenue in Vancouver was before the Court of Appeal here nearly all day Tuesday. Judgment was reserved on the conclusion of the argument presented by G. L. Fraser, who appeared for the appellants, James A. and Peter A. Pappajohn, and A. Alexander, who represented the respondent, Ernest L. Boultbee.

The argument was based on an injunction granted by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald restraining the Pappajohns from proceeding with the construction of a commercial building.

The site is in an alleged restricted building area of Vancouver and concerned in the case was the arrangement said to have been entered into with purchasers of land in that area by the C.P.R. to maintain the district as a residential area.

RECALLS HISTORY

In 1922, it was represented by Mr. Fraser, there had been enacted the Shaughnessy Act, by which commercial buildings would be prohibited. The location concerned was then in Point Grey. In 1925 a Town Planning Act was passed by the Legislature, which gave power to municipalities to provide for town planning. Later an amendment gave power to allow municipalities to provide for town planning commissions.

Mr. Fraser further pointed out that in 1930, after the town planning commission in Vancouver, and the City Council, had considered the matter in open conferences, it was decided to commercialize the corners at the point under dispute.

His argument was that there was conflict between the Town Planning Act and the Shaughnessy Act, and under the circumstances the Town Planning Act must prevail.

There had been restrictions as to building extended to 1935 and again extended to 1945, but the 1930 Town Planning Act, Mr. Fraser added, had the effect of overriding this restriction.

Mr. Alexander contended that there was no need to regard the two acts as clashing. He took the position that where there was apparent conflict the Shaughnessy Act should prevail. The latter was a restricting act, conferring no powers on municipalities. The Shaughnessy Act applied to a small area and was not general in its character.

Mr. Justice Martin wished to know of Mr. Fraser when the latter was replying as to how he was going to overcome the undertaking entered into by the company that the lots were to be restricted to residential purposes and could not be used for commercial uses without the consent of the company.

Mr. Fraser said he thought the power was there to abrogate under the various acts passed.

It was Christmas time and the much traveled young man had just returned from foreign climes. He was entertaining his righ old aunt (with whom he was in favor) with stories of the wonderful sights he had seen.

"Yes," he said, "there are some spectacles that can never be forgotten."

"Dear me!" exclaimed the absent-minded old lady. "I do wish you would get me a pair of them, John!"

CHURCH NAMES 1937 OFFICERS

Annual Vestry Meeting of St. John's Held—Reports Show Progress Made

The annual vestry meeting of St. John's Church was held in the Sunday school auditorium Tuesday night, when a good attendance of parishioners was noted to hear reports of the church and various organizations.

In the absence of Rev. Canon Chadwick, the rector, through ill-health, his assistant, Rev. G. R. V. Bolster, took the chair and conveyed Canon Chadwick's message of appreciation to all those who had so faithfully and loyally served the parish during the past year, and expressed his regrets at not being able to be present.

Mr. Bolster also voiced his own appreciation of the welcome that had been accorded Mrs. Bolster and himself to the parish, and assured the meeting that it was his earnest desire to serve the parish in every way possible.

In presenting the church wardens' report for the year 1936, S. C. Hawkins, people's warden, voiced the regrets of the congregation that Canon Chadwick had been suffering with ill-health, together with the sincere hope that he would soon be restored to complete health and strength in the near future.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The church wardens' report and financial statement showed that this, the oldest parish in the city, had made substantial progress during the past year. Not only had the church wiped off several large outstanding accounts shown on the balance sheet at the end of 1935, but it had also incurred increased expenditure, without in any way increasing the indebtedness of the church, but rather showing a decided decrease.

At the conclusion of this report, R. E. Burns, rector's warden, who also held the office of envelope secretary, congratulated the church on the progress it was making as evidenced by an increase in the number of envelopes taken out. Votes of thanks were then passed to the wardens, the treasurer, E. J. Fatt, and the auditor, Ken Hall.

REPORTS GIVEN

The following reports were submitted: Mrs. G. Kirk, Ladies' Guild; Mrs. G. Fuller, Senior W.A.; C. M. Parrott, superintendent, Sunday school; Miss K. Smith, vice-president, A.Y.P.A.; A. Paver, A.Y.P.A. Bible class; Miss A. L. Johnston, choir, and Mrs. Kirk, Chancel Guild.

In his report as secretary-treasurer of the Parish Hall fund, E. W. Meadows showed a large balance in hand, which will go toward providing this much-needed addition to the church.

Hearty votes of thanks were rendered to the various church groups, all of which showed marked progress during the past year. G. Jennings Burnett received special mention for his work at the organ.

NAME OFFICERS

R. E. Burns was selected by Canon Chadwick to be his warden for his fourth term. The following officers were elected: S. C. Hawkins, people's warden (re-elected); E. J. Fatt, treasurer (re-elected); Ken Hall, duplex envelope secretary; church committee, Dr. A. G. Price, C. Tice, R. H. B. Ker, W. A. Patterson, E. W. Meadows, C. M. Parrott, E. J. Fatt, J. Hooper, J. M. Nesbitt and E. E. Richards. Mr. Meadows was re-elected treasurer of the Parish Hall fund.

Lay delegates to the Synod chosen were Dr. Price, Mr. Hawkins, Mr. Richards, Mr. Patterson and J. M. Nesbitt. Delegates to the Rural-Decanal conference named were Mrs. S. H. Brake and Dr. Price. Sidesmen chosen were R. W. O. Savage, Mr. Meadows, Mr. Nesbitt, A. Knapp, F. Moorhead, C. Meadows, J. Dennis, R. Tubb, Mr. Patterson, Mr. Hooper, Mr. Richards and Mr. Paver.

Professor (to mother of freshman): "Your son has a great thirst for knowledge. Where does he get it?"

Amateur Ice Teams Are Struggling for Play-Off Positions

Western Senior Aggregations in Thick of Keen League Competition With Hopes of Gaining Place in Allan Cup Play-Downs—Trail Leading in the Interior—Teams Are Bunched

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27 (CP).—Western senior amateur hockey teams were in the thick of the struggle for league play-off berths today, with clubs long prominent in Allan Cup warfare taking a leading part in the current campaign.

With Kimberley Dynamiters, British Columbia's Allan Cup champions, on a European tour, their great rivals of the four-team West Kootenay League, Trail Smoke-Eaters, held a slim margin over Nelson Maple Leafs and apparently were headed for the league play-offs.

Calgary Rangers presently top the Alberta Big Six with a six-point margin over Bronks of the same city, but, with four play-off berths waiting, Drumheller Miners and the two Edmonton clubs, Dominions and Superiors, all retain excellent chances. Olds Elks are far in the ruck.

MINTOS LEADING

Prince Albert Mintos, reigning Saskatchewan champions, head the Northern League in that province by a wide margin, with the 1935 Manitoba champions, Flin Flon Bombers, now playing in the same circuit, in third place behind North Battleford Beavers, twelve points behind the leaders. Three of the four teams enter the play-offs and Saskatoon Quakers cannot be counted out.

In the five-team Southern Division, Weyburn Beavers have a three-point advantage over the strong Moose Jaw club. Yorkton Terriers and Regina Aces should gain the four-cornered play-offs, for Regina Vics, with only one victory in sixteen starts, are far back.

A bitter fight is being waged in Winnipeg's newly-organized Big Four, with only three points separating first and last teams.

Fort William Wanderers, Western finalists last year, are tied with Port Arthur Bearcats at the top of the new International League after seventeen games. The Thunder Bay clubs, considered dangerous Allan Cup contenders, have received strong opposition from the three Minnesota teams in the league, Duluth, Eveleth and Virginia.

Father and Son Working Trotters at Track

To be quite frank, we don't know if Ben White, famous trainer of trotting horses, actually was hurrying home or not, but he was certainly hurrying some place against his son, Gibson, when the camera caught him. Gibson is the owner of Rosalind, 1936 Hambletonian winner. He's driving National Joy here, while his dad is driving Smarcano. They're working the trotters at Orlando, Fla., in preparation for the Grand Circuit.

BOMBER EXPECTED TO REGISTER KNOCKOUT EARLY IN THE BOUT

Detroit's Colored Sensation Will Enter Ring at Big Odds to Stop Young New York Contender — Louis Reported to Have Been Sent to Canvas During Training Session by Sparring Mate

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (CP).—Renewed hope flared in Bob Pastor's fight camp tonight as reports filtered into town that Joe Louis had been knocked down while sparring with Eddie Malcolm, Harlem negro, in a workout at Pompton Lakes today.

Although the portly Louis, laughingly insisting he had merely slipped, went on to give Malcolm a thorough dusting off, at least two newspapermen at the ringside claimed the Brown Bomber was knocked down and that he looked bad while falling.

Louis, taking the Pastor fight seriously, looked tip-top as he opened his day's sparring drill against Irish Mickey Glynn, of New York. He battered Glynn, knocking him out after a minute of fighting. He then took Malcolm on for a scheduled two-rounder. No sooner had they started to exchange blows than Louis was on the canvas.

George Barton, sports editor of The Minneapolis Tribune, and John Carmichael, of The Chicago Daily News, said Malcolm cracked Louis on the head and that he went down under a clean blow. Others at the ringside were of the opinion Louis mistimed a punch and fell. At any rate the Bomber arose and gave Malcolm a terrific thumping, then boxed two more rounds with Glynn.

Pastor, reported to be in peak condition, took things easy. He jogged around Central Park and spent the rest of the day reading detective stories or playing cards.

Odds still were overwhelmingly in favor of Louis and a quick knockout victory. Long-shot players were getting 7 to 1 against a decision for Pastor and 12 to 1 against a knockout win for the New Yorker. Strangely enough, quite a few bets, all small, were being made.

APOSTOLI IS DEFEATED BY KEN OVERLIN

San Francisco Middleweight Drops Surprise Fight to Virginia Belter

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP). — Ken Overlin, fighting sailor from Richmond, Va., pulled an upset tonight by winning a ten-round decision over Fred Apostoli, San Francisco middleweight. The decision drew boos from the house.

Apostoli, making his New York ring debut with a great record behind him along the Pacific Coast, was a 2-to-1 favorite, but couldn't solve the long, rapier-like lefts that the Virginian tossed into his face all during the fight.

GAVE APOSTOLI EDGE

The Associated Press score sheet gave a narrow edge to Apostoli, in addition to calling four rounds even. It was those even rounds that decided the outcome evidently in the opinion of the judges and Referee Jack Denning.

Overlin took the wind out of the ex-San Francisco bellhop's sails in the first round. Catching the West Coast middleweight unawares, he pumped long, hard lefts to his face and had him groggy.

JACKSON, JOLIAT CLIMB UP LADDER

(By the Canadian Press)

Harvey Jackson, of Toronto Maple Leafs, and little Aurel Joliat, of Montreal's fast-flying Canadiens, were the only ones of five scoring leaders who saw action Tuesday night to improve their positions.

Jackson, continuing his rapid rise towards the top of the parade, used his team's only goal to move into a fourth place tie with Johnny Gagnon, of Canadiens. Joliat went a point ahead of Amerks' Art Chapman by his two goals against Maple Leafs and thereby pushed the idle Bob Gracie, of Montreal Maroons, out of the picture. The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
Aurie, Detroit	17	12	29
Schriner, Americans	12	16	28
Barry, Detroit	8	19	27
Gagnon, Canadiens	13	13	26
Jackson, Toronto	13	13	26
Joliat, Canadiens	14	10	24
Chapman, Americans	6	17	23

McMANUS IS INJURED

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Jan. 27 (AP)—Rhode Island Reds sent their stock soaring in the International-American Hockey League by a 6-2 victory tonight over Syracuse Stars, leaders of the Western division of the circuit.

The triumph was costly, however, for Sammy McManus, one-time Moncton Hawk, suffered a broken collar bone late in the second period, and will be lost to the team for some time.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Showing that the Island race is to be keener than the City League competition, the Sons of England and the Foresters played a drawn game of two goals apiece at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. The Foresters showed a decided improvement, and, while the Sons of England may have had more shots, steady defensive work was more than they could solve.

* * *

Duncan's crack basketball quintette took the Shawnigan Lake team into camp for an awful beating at that town last night by the one-sided score of 48-6. The score at half-time was 22-1. John P. Sweney showed up best for Shawnigan, although John was disappointed with the showing his new team made.

Vancouver. — Vancouver showed itself as a home of champions today, when the representative Rugby fifteen of this city took the measure of the Victoria fifteen in the third of the inter-city games of the season, winning a hard-fought battle by six points to five. The result of the game means that the McKechnie and Keith Cups, emblematic of the British Columbia and Pacific Coast championships, respectively, will become the property of the Vancouver club.

A general meeting of the Foresters Football Club will take place on Tuesday evening, and all members, whether holding a place on the team or otherwise, are asked to turn out. The Foresters are going to make a strong bid for the Morley Cup, and discussion will take place as to the plans to be pursued in selecting the team for the opening match next week.

PEDENS TRAIL AT MILWAUKEE

Victoria Brother Combination Only a Lap Behind Two Leading Teams

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 27 (AP). — The United States team of Charlie Winter and Freddie Ottevaire gained a lap in early jamming tonight to tie the German combination of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel in mileage, as Milwaukee's six-day international bicycle race went into the 120th hour. The German combination, however, still held an advantage in sprint points to lead the race. The leaders have covered 2,010.7 miles. A lap behind were the cycling Canadians, the Peden brothers, from Victoria.

Nine p.m. standings:

Ellsworth Vines Wins From Fred Perry to Widen Lead in Series

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Jan. 27 (AP).—Ellsworth Vines defeated Fred Perry, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, here tonight in the twelfth match of their cross-country series. The match gave Vines a two-up lead over the Briton in the series.

After vanquishing the Briton last night at Richmond, Va., the victory put him two up on Perry in their series. Vines has won seven matches and Perry five.

It was Vines' blistering service that conquered Perry and he also made good use of smashes and drop shots. Perry showed a nifty backhand and chopped well.

Empress Golf Meet Is Set for Colwood Links

Ninth Annual Tournament Is to Be Held at Picturesque Course From March 1 To 6—Expect Big Entry From Various Northwest Cities

Established as a means of proving to the sceptical that Winter golf in the Pacific Northwest is as feasible as in more southerly climes, the Empress Winter golf tournament, the ninth annual edition of which will be played over Royal Colwood's beautiful acres here, March 1 to 6, has unmistakably achieved that purpose, and is now a permanent fixture on the sporting calendar.

Wherefore it is not surprising that golfers in the Northwest are displaying more than casual interest in the forthcoming meet, now drawing so close; and out on the Canadian Prairies, east of the Rockies, where the temperatures have been rollicking—like the duffer's score for the first nine—in the early 50's and late 40's, mashie-wielders are exchanging the coal shovel for a niblick, and are heading westward to Vancouver Island.

Manager J. K. Hodges, of the Empress Hotel, which sponsors the event that made Winter golf on the Pacific Coast famous, is rounding off plans for a big week at his stately and renowned hostelry, for Victoria looks on the tournament as "golf week," pushing mere business cares into the discard and bending all energies to their own enjoyment on the links and to caring, socially, for their many golfing visitors.

FUNCTIONS ARRANGED

The hotel, headquarters for out-of-town golfers, will be en fete with special cabarets and dances, adding the final social touch on Saturday night, March 6, in the crystal ballroom, when about 1,000 golfers and their friends will meet to see the prizes distributed, probably by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber.

Social and golfing activities are mixed in nice proportions during Victoria's golf week, nor is the tournament a serious affair of strain and turmoil. Rather it centres around the Sir Edward Beatty handicap event—men's and women's—for the trophy donated in 1929 by the chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Usually the winner of the Beatty Trophy is a double-figure handicap and this adds spice to a tournament which also attracts enough good players to provide spirited competition in the Victoria Chamber of Commerce open competition. No less a personage than Beattie's Albert "Scotty" Campbell is defender of this bauble. He won it from Victoria's smooth-stroking Harold Brynjolfson at Oak Bay here last March.

The inter-district team match event for the cup commemorating Jack Matson, late Victoria sportsman and front-rank golfer of Vancouver Island, brings together four-man teams, usually from Victoria, Seattle, Vancouver, Winnipeg and elsewhere, in a ding-dong battle based on the aggregate qualifying scores.

ROTARY ROSE BOWL

Ladies are remembered, particularly the Victoria Rotary Club, whose handsome rose bowl goes to the woman with the best gross score in the eighteen-hole qualifying round. Plenty of flights, with consolation prizes, provide play for every entrant, whether qualifier or not, and the tournament is spiced with novelty events, such as hidden hole and mixed foursomes.

EDDIE SHORE IS OUT OF ACTION

Defence Star of Boston Bruins Will Take Extended Rest Following Injuries From Rangers Game

BOSTON, Jan. 27 (AP).—The immediate hockey future of Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins' defenceman, rested tonight, the club's physician said, on further physical examinations and a complete rest.

Dr. Thomas A. Kelley, physician of the National Hockey League club, said Shore was suffering from a sacro-iliac injury which developed last Summer. Last night, playing against New York Rangers, Shore tried to break up a Ranger attack and landed up against the boards. He was carried off the ice.

"We have made X-ray pictures of his injury," Dr. Kelley said tonight, "and we shall make some more in a few days. Until we make further examination, it is hard to say just how long Shore will have to stay out of the game. At least, he will have to take a complete rest. Unless he does so, we may expect a recurrence of the injury at any time."

CARPET BOWLING

The draw for the Army and Navy Cup and Kiwanis Cup tournaments, with the places and dates for the playing of the various matches, is as follows:

ARMY AND NAVY CUP

Bowlers From Old Country to Visit Canada Next Year

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 27 (CP).—A lawn bowling team from British Isles will visit Canada during the Summer of 1938, according to an announcement today by A. A. Langford, secretary of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association.

The trip was approved by the International Bowling Board at its semi-annual meeting in London, England, January 9. The proposed visit will be the first since 1927, when a British team made its first trip across Canada. On previous trips the teams never went farther west than Ontario.

It is expected definite information on a prospective visit of a South African team will be available in a few days.

GUY PATRICK TO CHALLENGE EASTERN TEAM

Series for Canadian Pro Hockey Title May Be Arranged This Season

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27 (CP).—Canada this year may see a hockey series for the Canadian professional crown between a Canadian National Hockey League team and the Pacific Coast League's Vancouver Lions. Only two "ifs" stand in the way.

Guy Patrick, owner-manager of the Lions, said today if a Canadian team wins the N.H.L. and his own team comes through in the Coast League, he would "lose no time in challenging" the N.H.L. winner to a series to determine supremacy among Canadian professional teams.

Said Manager Patrick:

"This (the Lions) is the best hockey team I have ever handled in Vancouver and I am firmly convinced they will win the Coast pennant. If they do, I'll lose no time in challenging Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal Maroons or Montreal Canadiens for the Canadian championship."

WOULD BOLSTER SQUAD

ORLANDO WITH DETROIT TEAM

Young Defenceman Replaces The Injured Roulston on Wings' Rear Flank

DETROIT, Jan. 27 (AP).—Young Jimmy Orlando, 175-pound bundle of fight from Pittsburgh and Montreal, stepped tonight into the toughest spot of his brief hockey career without fear of big-league opponents, or of the jinx on the position he is to fill.

The twenty-one-year-old defenceman, a year removed from Montreal amateur circles, joined the injury-riddled but high-flying Detroit Red Wings, Stanley Cup and National League champions, to become Bucko McDonald's third partner of the season.

His two predecessors, Captain Doug Young and Orville Roulston, are out of action with broken legs. Jimmy, after a session on the Olympia ice here, said jinxes didn't worry him. He's ready to wear the No. 2 Jersey that Young and Roulston wore filling the big defence vacancy as Detroit tries to protect its six-point lead over New York Rangers.

The young Pittsburgh Hornet player caught Manager Jack Adams' eye ten days ago in an International-American League game, when he battled on even terms with three fist-swinging opponents on the Pittsburgh ice.

Bristol City Wins

BRISTOL, England, Jan. 27 (CP).—Bristol City defeated Bournemouth, 4-1, in a Southern Section Third Division Football League match played here today.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK - - - - By R. J. Scott

Youthful Bruin Winger

Getliffe is within striking distance of the goal-scoring leaders in the American section of the N.H.L., and pairs with Cowley as the two highest scoring forwards with the Boston Bruins. Getliffe is a very clever stick-handler, and knows how to take advantage of the breaks.

HOYLE-BROWN BEATS OUT WEST SAANICH CAGERS

Caddell's Basket And Foul Shot Is Deciding Factor

Ties Up Score With Field Goals and Then Sinks Foul-Line Toss to Give Shandley's Boys 37-36 Decision in "B" Play-Off—Burnetts Even Up Women's Series With Cardinals

With Jack Caddell, veteran hoopster, enacting the hero role to perfection, Manager Frank Shandley's Hoyle-Brown basketeers, upset the dope last night at the Victoria High School gymnasium, when they came through with a 37-36 triumph over the West Saanich Mercantiles in the first game of the men's senior "B" play-downs.

Caddell, who topped the winners' scoring brigade with eleven points, wound up his evening's performance in a blaze of glory, when he potted the tying points thirty-five seconds before the final gong and then for extra measure tossed home the deciding point from the foul strip.

Bob Whyte's Burnetts cagers started handing out the surprise packets when they nosed out Jack Taylor's Cardinals, 22-21, in the second game of the intermediate "A" girls' play-offs. Defeated 31-24 in the initial encounter, Burnetts came back with fight last night and scored a sweet victory. The series is now deadlocked at one game apiece. The third and deciding fixture will in all probability be played next week.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Taking the lead early in the initial stanza, Hoyle-Brown finished the first half on the long end of a 20-17 score. West Saanich Mercantile were the first to garner points but after Fleming knotted the count at 2-2 the eventual winners stayed out in front until the rest interval. Hoyle-Brown held a ten-point advantage at one stage in this session but when the gong halted play at the halfway mark their margin was only three points.

West Saanich Mercantiles began to hit the hoop more frequently in the last stanza and finally managed to forge to the front at 27-26 eleven minutes after the resumption of play. The suburbanites stayed on top until the dying minutes of the wild, hectic struggle. Jack Caddell, who had been getting some useful points during the fixture, jumped right into the picture thirty-five seconds from time, when he sank the basket that tied the score at 36-36. Fouled seconds later, Caddell gave the game the story book complex when he made his foul shot good. It was the final point of the evening and gave the "Old Men of the Mountains" a 37-36 triumph and the first game of the play-offs.

Late in the encounter, Bill Levy was chased for personals and a few seconds later, Karl Young, tip-off man for the suburbanites, joined the Hoyle-Brown player in the cooler.

With Doreen Beere and Peggy White sharing the scoring honors with eight points apiece, Burnetts eked out a sweet 22-21 triumph over the Cardinals.

The eventual winners set up a 9-7 lead in the initial quarter and ran it to 13-10 at the halfway mark. With the score reading 14-12 for Burnetts, Mary Wells, playing guard for the Cardinals, tossed home a long one from just outside the blue line. Each team scored once to make the count 16-16, and then P. Blakemore sank two beautiful field baskets to give the Cardinals a four-point lead as the third quarter ended.

Doreen Beere, playing smart ball all evening, ran in two field baskets and then four minutes from time tied the score at 21-21. Each team missed a number of free shots from the strip in the later stages of the game, but close to the end of the fixture Doreen Beere made a foul shot good. It proved to be the deciding point and brought her teammates through to a 22-21 victory.

Scoring honors for the Cardinals were fairly evenly divided, with P. Blakemore, playing her first season with the club, being on top with seven points. Eva Elston and Virginia Hall caged four apiece.

TRADE-ATS WIN

With every member of their squad gaining the scoring column, Trade-Ats swamped Jennings Florists, 55-8, in the curtain-raiser, a men's senior "B" tussle. The winners dropped home thirty points in the initial stanza, and twenty-five in the last half. The Florists, just to be consistent, caged four points in each stanza.

B. Reid with fourteen, B. Wallace and K. Kent with ten each and A. DeGirolamo with eleven did most of the point-getting for the winners. Knapp sunk six of the eight garnered by the losers.

T. Macedo and B. MacMurchie refereed.

Latest Addition to Pro Golf Ranks

JOCK McLEAN

ONE of the ranking amateur golfers in the Old Country, who met with considerable success in the United States last year, has turned professional. His inclusion in the pro. ranks should make a few of the Yankee and Canadian topnotchers step from now on.

Morenz and Lynn Patrick Racing for Puck

Varsity Football Squad Is Coming To City Saturday

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27 (CP).—A University of British Columbia soccer squad will travel to Victoria, Saturday, to meet a Victoria all-star eleven, John Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Soccer Commission, announced today.

The visit has been postponed several times, due to adverse weather, but the Varsity squad will definitely make the trip this week, Richardson said, despite weather conditions.

The commission has granted Varsity permission to strengthen their team with the addition of Dave Turner, of New Westminster Royals, and Paul Kozoolin, North Shore United star.

JESS WILLARD'S SON IN TRAINING

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 27 (AP).—Jess Willard's "little boy" has taken up regular experiments with boxing gloves, although he won't admit he's interested in following his father's capacious footsteps in the squared ring.

"I think he has the makings of a great fighter—if he'd put his mind to it," said Ike Deeter, boxing coach at Washington State College, where Jess Junior is a student.

Jess the younger, at twenty-two, is six feet, one inch tall, dwarfed by his six-and-one-half-foot father who lost his heavyweight championship before the powerful fists of Jack Dempsey at Toledo, July 4, 1919. Junior weighs 200 pounds, likewise far under his father's fighting weight.

LAJOIE STATES HE HAD BREAKS

Famous Baseball Star of Years Ago Tells How He Made Hall of Fame

LAKE WORTH, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP).—Napoleon Lajoie, French-Canadian contribution to baseball's hall of fame, says the "breaks" had a big part in gaining a niche for him.

"It's a wonderful game, but you have to have the luck and the breaks to make the most of it," said the sixty-one-year-old former star, who compiled a life-time batting average of .338 and a fielding mark of .966.

"Because I got away with it successfully everything was fine. But if I hadn't, they would have called me a bum instead."

Without hesitancy, "Nap" named the players he considers the greatest of the past and the present.

"For the past, you may say Ty Cobb. There is the player who gave the most to the game, inasmuch as Ty broke more records for speed, hitting and consistent playing in the old days than any of them.

"For today's outstanding player, I select Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the Yankees. He has a record of twelve years of consistent baseball, every game a consecutive game. That takes good playing, along with the breaks and luck."

Lajoie, Outfielder Tris Speaker and Pitcher Cy Young, three of the game's greatest old-timers, were nominated to baseball's all-time hall of fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America several days ago. The hall of fame is located at Cooperstown, N.Y., birthplace of baseball, as a permanent shrine to the game.

Shadow Pins Anderson

BELLINGHAM, Jan. 27 (AP).—The Red Shadow, 220, address unknown, won two straight falls from Leo Numa Anderson, 230, Anacortes, in a wrestling exhibition here last night. Vic Christy, 220, Hollywood, defeated Hal Rumberg, 230, Spokane, in straight falls.

"KING KONG" TO HEADLINE SQUIRM SHOW

California's Wildman Grappler to Meet Hal Rumberg On Saturday's Card

"King Kong" Cox, self-styled "wildman" of the pachydermic pastime, who hails from Lodi, Cal., will return to the local battlefront Saturday evening to do battle on the top spot of Promoter Fred Richardson's squirm show at the Tillicum gymnasium.

The rugged Californian was yesterday signed to oppose clever Hal Rumberg, young Spokane heavyweight. The boys are scheduled to go eight ten-minute rounds or the best two out of three falls.

Rumberg showed last week and gained a draw with Ronald McIntyre, likeable Scot, after an interesting and entertaining bout that was a crowd pleaser all of the way. Tossed in against the Lodi "wildman," the Spokane heavy will have to use somewhat different tactics. Cox specializes in such unorthodox tricks as gouging, biting, kicking and, in fact, anything that is not used in the best of grappling circles. He sometimes tosses in the water bottle for good measure.

CAN BE ROUGH

Hal Rumberg is a past master in dishing out the rough stuff, too, and should be quite at home with the rugged "King Kong" Cox. The Spokane grappler prefers to wrestle clean, but with a man of Cox's type, this will be a difficult task. Rumberg has yet to drop a match in the local ring and Saturday he will be out to make a good job of taming the "wildman."

Sailor Jack Arnold, a youngster who has been squirming in other Coast cities, will make his Victoria debut in the semi-windup. His opponent has yet to be selected.

In addition to the top matches, a special event and preliminary, with local boys appearing, will round out the programme.

Margery Kirkham Is Canada's Only Female Golfing Pro

MONTREAL, Jan. 27 (CP).—Margery Kirkham, Canadian women's open golf champion in 1932, has signed a professional contract, she announced here today. Miss Kirkham is believed to be Canada's only woman "pro" in golf.

The red-headed Montreal girl defeated ranking United States players for the Dominion title five years ago and four times since she has been runner-up. Last year she lost to Mrs. Dora Darling.

Soccer Activities

A meeting of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association will be held in The Colonist board room on Tuesday, February 2, at 7:30 o'clock. All team managers and representatives are asked to be present as the draw for the Lower Island play-offs will be made.

All players' forms and transfers must be in the hands of the secretary by January 31, this being the closing date for the signing of transferring of players.

With the grounds still frozen, no matches will be played this week.

Morton Are Held To Football Draw

GLASGOW, Jan. 27 (CP).—Holding Morton, crack Second Division Scottish football club, to a 3-3 draw Murrayfield Amateurs sprang a surprise in a first round Scottish Cup game played on the latter's ground today. Hamilton Academicals visited Moor Park in another first round match, winning 7-1.

Three first round matches have been played ahead of the scheduled date. Solway Star beating Larbert Amateurs, 3-1, last Saturday. The remaining twenty-four cup-ties will be played January 30.

ENGLISH RUGBY

RUGBY UNION

Royal Naval College (Greenwich) 3, Portsmouth Services 35.

Cambridge University 25, Guy's Hospital 10.

RUGBY LEAGUE

Wigan 45, Streatham and Mitcham 12.

Two Yanks Released

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP). — New York Yankees have released Pitcher Al Piechota and Outfielder Jack Glynn to Newark, of the International League, and Catcher Bill Raimondi to Oakland.

IRISH FOOTBALL

Ballymena 1, Glentoran 8.
Arda 0, Distillery 4.

"Young man, I understand you have made advances to my daughter."

"Yes, sir. I wasn't going to say anything about it, but since you have mentioned it, I wish you could get her to pay me back."

Security Prices Turn Upward at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP).—Traders in today's stock market gave selected issues a recovery boost for fractions to around 2 points, but an attitude of wariness was evident as the financial sector attempted to assay flood damages and the probable extent of the automotive strike.

Steels pointed the way toward the rallying trail and other heavy industry stocks joined the movement. Specialities, including amusements, were well out in front.

Lack of volume on the turn-about was a bit discouraging to commission houses. Transfers totaled 1,935,836 shares compared with 2,175,330 yesterday. It was the smallest aggregate for a full day in four weeks.

Among principal gainers were U.S. Steel at 88 1-2, Bethlehem 77 7-8, General Electric 62, Westinghouse 159 7-8, Western Union 80 7-8, Great Northern 43 1-4 and Pennsylvania 41 3-4.

Other sections also improved in fairly active trading.

Japanese 6 1-2's dropped a 7-8 to 93 7-8 in the foreign list.

Canadian Hydro Gains Sharply—Papers and Constructions Strong

MONTREAL, Jan. 27 (CP).—A late rally put most issues on the upward path on the stock market today, but a number of recessions remained scattered over the list.

Canadian Hydro Electric skipped up to 80, gain of 5 7-8. Howard Smith at 22 and St. Lawrence Corporation preferred at 29, gained 1 point each.

Down 1 point at 73 1-2, Noranda lost most in the metals section. Hollinger advanced 1-2. Dominion Bridge added 1 point. Continued demand sent Canadian Locomotive up 3-4 to 22 1-4.

SELLS EXCHANGE SEAT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP).—Stuyvesant Fish, a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1909, and one of its most colorful floor characters, has sold his membership in the exchange for $105,000, it was learned today.

General dissatisfaction with the many new rules and regulations for floor members was given as the reason for relinquishing his active connections, it was said.

BISHOP OF LONDON IN EIGHTIETH YEAR

LONDON, Jan. 26 (?)—The Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. A. F. Winnington-Ingram, entered his eightieth year today, as fit as ever and still an active golfer. The Bishop has held the See of London—third highest position in the Anglican hierarchy—for thirty-five years. No Bishop of London has had so long a tenure of office for at least three centuries.

"Billy, what do you suppose the scrub teams are for?"

"You have got a new sister. What is her name?"

"We don't know yet. We can't understand a word she says."—Gazzetino Illustrato, Venice.

Jane Dixon Says:

EVERYBODY IS ENTITLED TO ANOTHER CHANCE, BUT THE YOUNG SCHOOL TEACHER IN TODAY'S PROBLEM HAD BETTER NOT BE TOO OPTIMISTIC ABOUT HER BOY-FRIEND'S SINCERITY

"Just one more chance!"

How many times we've heard the plea.

Perhaps we've made it ourselves, from the embarrassment of our mistake, from the depths of our remorse, from the desperation of our intent to retrieve ourselves, our word, our honor.

Certainly every man and woman is entitled to another chance on an initial failure. To a second chance, maybe, and in special circumstances, a third one.

After the third chance—giving is likely to become a habit, and no one thinks less of it than the one to whom it is offered.

Dear Miss Dixon: I am twenty, and a school teacher in a rural district. This is my first year teaching. I finished college in June.

My problem may seem an ordinary one, but it means so much to me. All the past years in college I went with one boy, and I grew to love him. He seemed to love me and paid me constant attention.

This Summer we were separated, as he lives out West. Yet his letters were regular, filled with tenderness and expressions of his love. This Fall he came East early for the opening of school, so he could call on me at my home first; but unexpectedly, I had secured this position, gone to it, so he missed me. Later, he wrote he wanted to come to see me here, but my older sister advised me to go back to school and see him there, as I had not yet become adjusted in this community. I took her advice, and we had a lovely time together—so much to talk about and to do.

The first of November I planned to go back to a football game and dance. We had talked about this all Summer. I said nothing more about it until a few days before the game, when I wrote the boy I would be on my way. Our letters crossed in the mail—his, received the day before I was to leave, said he was taking his campus girl-friend to the game and dance. I knew of this girl, but the letter I had from him the week before said the girl was not to alter our relations in any way, as he knew I would be on the campus from time to time. He said he was taking her, as he assumed I had made other arrangements. Isn't this a feeble alibi?

I went anyway, and we talked a great deal about it. I was terribly hurt and angry. He admitted he was wrong and asked me to forgive him, saying he intended going straight in the future.

I'd told him I'd forgive, but I can't feel right about it. Should I give him another chance? I go around with other young men and expect him to go with other girls; but I expect him to keep his promise and give me first consideration.

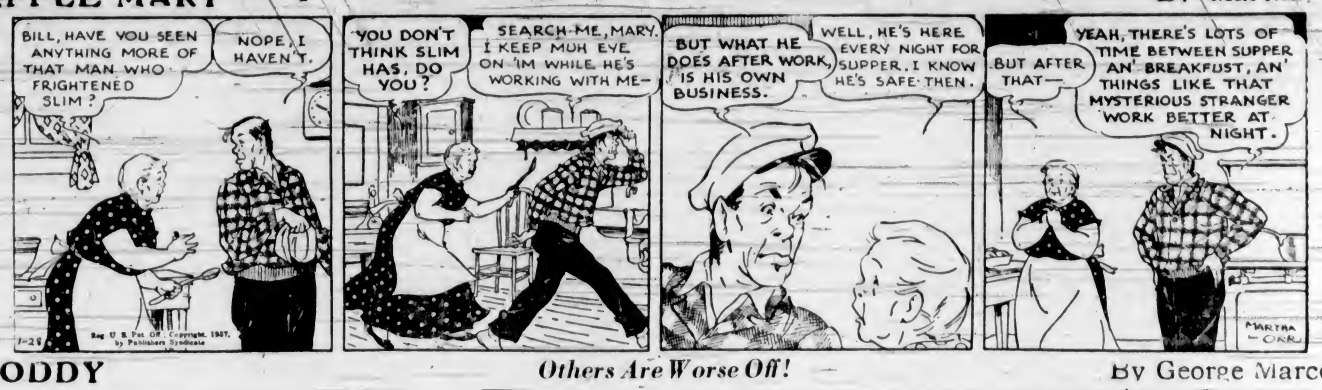

I love him so much, Miss Dixon, and we have so much in common, that it seems a shame to break our friendship. My older sister thinks it very foolish of me not to stop corresponding with him at once.—Baffled.

Answer: The young man played you a very shabby trick and his alibi will hold no more water than a sieve; but if you think he is sorry for his conduct and will not repeat the offence, and if you love him so much, you should give him the chance he asks.

However, from the general tone of your letter, parts of which are omitted here, I feel I ought to warn you not to be too optimistic about your future with this young man. It may be that you, too, were a campus girl-friend. Under no circumstances pursue him with letters, presents or "accidental" visits. If you do see him, never again mention the matter of the football game and the dance. Try not to be too serious about your affection for him—be a good pal and a lively friend.

WHEAT PRICES DROP SHARPLY

Futures Tumble More Than Two Cents at Winnipeg Grain Market

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27 (CP).—Wheat prices skidded on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today but made very little fuss about it. At the close of a dull session, values were 2 1-2 to 2 1-4 cents lower, at the day's lowest levels.

A minimum of selling prompted by a lack of overseas demand for wheat sufficed to scale down the price structure, the May future closing at $1.19⅝, July $1.16¼ and October $1.05½.

Tending to scare off buyers was the forecast of United States' Secretary of Agriculture Wallace yesterday that increased production this year would bring about lower prices for wheat and other grains.

OPPOSE PROPOSAL FOR WORLD CONFERENCE

IMPERTINENT SUGGESTION

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, said he would go farther and describe such a suggestion from 10,000,000 people to 120,000,00 as an impertinence.

Further, Mr. Bennett said, the United States was scarcely the nation to call a world peace conference. It was spending more money on armaments than ever before and it had taken the stand it should free itself from responsibility for world affairs.

"I have not forgotten that a great world economic conference was called in 1933," said Mr. Bennett. "I know one man, two men, three men, who were urged by the President of the United States to expedite in every possible way the work of that conference, yet the conference had hardly met before the President of the United States torpedoed it, for reasons which have never yet been made public. In his judgment, conditions in the world were such that it was necessary for him to take the action he did take."

PROPOSES RESOLUTION

The world conference suggestion came in a resolution proposed by A. A. Heaps (C.C.F., Winnipeg North). He said it was impossible to confine peace to North America just as it was impossible to confine war to Europe.

Those who took the view North American nations could stay out of world affairs were not on sound ground. The United States was both feared and respected by other nations and was free from national interests outside its own borders. It was the logical country to start a new move for peace, the League of Nations having failed.

Preparations for national defence were not inconsistent with a desire for peace, said Mr. King. All parties desired peace and it did not help the cause when those concerned about national defence were accused of favoring war.

NOT OF MUCH VALUE

Dangerous forces were operating in the world, and there was no guarantee they would not operate against the shores of Canada or across Canada. It was doubtful if a conference would be of any value. Conferences in the past had not accomplished much.

"Let us not begin by telling other countries what they should do until we tell them what we ourselves are prepared to do in helping to meet an emergency," said Mr. King.

"It is inconceivable that the President of the United States, with the interest he has taken in world affairs, with the concern he has already shown for the maintenance of peace, has not had under consideration the very question my friend (Mr. Heaps) has suggested."

The more he saw of conferences, the less patience he had with them, said Mr. King. They were a convenient way of appearing to be doing something when doing nothing.

MIGHT NOT FAVOR PLAN

There was serious question as to whether the nations were prepared for a conference. Germany, Japan and other nations refused to be in the League of Nations and might not look on the conference with any more favor.

A conference called by the United States would have one good effect, said Miss Agnes Macphail (United Farmer-Labor, Grey-Bruce). It would take the heads of European states out of Europe into a continent that was at peace. And she added, "There is always a chance the boat might sink on the way over."

"One of the worst political manoeuvres this country could adopt would be to enter as a participating member in any Pan-American union," said Hon. C. H. Cahan (Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George).

"We to the north of the United States have nothing in common with the states to the south. It would add nothing to our economic and very little, if anything to our cultural strength."

SEES VALUE IN PROPOSAL

P. J. Rowe (Social Credit-Athabaska) said he was glad to support the resolution. He could see real value in the convening of a world conference to study the causes and origins of wars which were, he thought, as preventable as small pox or floods.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F.-Vancouver East) said the League of Nations was apparently unable to function and the resolution was designed to suggest some other means of getting the world powers together. He could not see it was impertinent or ill-advised and would support it.

Mr. Heaps, closing the debate, believed no nation would care to ignore an invitation to a world conference if that invitation came from the United States. Adjournment at 6 o'clock came as Mr. Heaps finished and the motion was not put.

REPORTS SHOW FINE PROGRESS

E. W. Abraham Is Elected President of British-Israel Association

The annual meeting of the Victoria and District British-Israel Association was held in the Forresters Hall on Tuesday night, with E. W. Abraham in the chair. Splendid reports showing the activities of the various departments were read and the great progress which the movement had made during the past year was noted.

The president thanked the speakers, officers and workers for their co-operation and stated that the association was run entirely by voluntary workers, and appealed for redoubled efforts during 1937.

The treasurer's report showed the excellent financial standing of the association, and the secretary drew attention to the fact that the adoption of tithing has been of great benefit to the headquarters' fund and that the association is run entirely with a voluntary staff and voluntary contributions.

An encouraging report of the activities of the book room and headquarters was read, pointing out their increased usefulness in the distribution of free literature and the sale of magazines and books, and a very comprehensive lending library.

The following officers were elected for the coming year. Honorary president, W. H. Blackaller; president, E. W. Abraham; first vice-president, N. Y. Cross; second vice-president, A. W. Arnup; secretary, Don MacKinnon; treasurer, G. W. Peacock; librarian, E. Ashley Cooper; literature convener, Miss E. M. Harker; room convener, Mrs. E. W. Abraham; prayer league convener, Mrs. G. E. Altree Coley; committee, R. B. Price, G. W. Pilling, A. E. Gibbs, Mrs. G. W. Johnston, Mrs. F. T. Smith, Mrs. D. M. Brake and Mrs. A. C. Cooper.

Britannia Branch To Stage Concert Tomorrow Evening

With a fine array of talent, Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion will stage a grand party concert at the Otter Point Camp tomorrow evening, commencing at 7:45, under the direction of Percy C. Payne and Tom Obee. The bus will leave the branch headquarters, 715 View Street, at 6:30 and all artists are asked to be on time.

Mr. Payne has arranged at least one concert weekly, and any artists who are willing to assist are asked to hand their names in to Tom Obee or Stanley James. They may do so by telephoning G 1863 or by writing to 534 Dunedin Street.

The following artists will make the trip to Otter Point Camp: Bill Emmerton, pianist; Bill Anderson, violin solos; Stanley James, comedian; Tom Obee, comedian; Len Foster, whistling solos; Johnny Gow, magician; Frank Partridge, tenor; Master Morrison, boy soprano; Ray Hunt and Stanley James, dancing-horse act, and several other musical acts. Community singing will conclude the night's entertainment.

EAWOTA, Sask., Jan. 27 (CP).—Drenched with burning gasoline when a lamp exploded, four-year-old Donald Stubbington, son of W. S. Stubbington, district farmer, was burned to death. Eight other members of the family escaped. The farm home was destroyed.

Musical Art Groups Join At Concert

The advantages of having the several junior branches of the Musical Art Society are constantly apparent to the members of these groups themselves, but it is only occasionally that the general membership of the parent organization has an opportunity to realize this to such an extent as they did yesterday afternoon when they listened to the delightful programme arranged by the young people for their entertainment.

The affair, held, by courtesy of Mrs. Gordon Cameron, at her charming home at 2021 Runnymede Avenue, attracted a big audience, which listened with obvious enjoyment to a programme of pianoforte, violin and vocal music, supplemented by recitations and readings. Tea followed, during which the members of the senior and junior groups met informally and exchanged ideas and formulated plans for future occasions of the kind.

GUESTS WELCOMED

Guests were welcomed on arrival by Mrs. Gordon Cameron, Mrs. Allon Peebles, president of the Senior Musical Arts, and Miss Dorothy McMicking, president of the Junior Musical Arts. The programme that followed included the musicianly interpretations by Mrs. C. S. Beals, pianist, of Mozart's "Pastorale" and Mokrej's "Valsique"; the Beethoven Sonata No. 12, for violin and piano, by Alvin Northcott, a promising young violinist of the city, with Miss Gladys Hewling at the piano; the singing by Miss Elsie Friend, possessor of a light but pleasing voice, of the old Purcell favorite, "I Attempt From Love's Sickness to Fly" and Vito Carnivali's "Come Love With Me," Margaret Pringle making a skilled accompanist.

The programme was generously rounded out by the group of recitations by Miss Scowcroft, among whose special favorites were the Christina Rosetti "Who Has Seen the Wind?" "The Old House" and some of her own original poems, "Remembering," "Thoughts After a Summer Shower" and "To April."

TO VISIT VICTORIA

On behalf of the senior society, the president, Mrs. Peebles, expressed thanks to the artists and the hostess, at the same time reminding all present of the forthcoming visit to the city, under the auspices of the National Council of Education, in conjunction with the Musical Art Society, of Mary Ramsay, Scottish pianist, and Anders Timberg, Swedish tenor, who are to be here on February 10.

After the programme, guests repaired to the dining-room for tea, Mrs. Peebles and Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw (convener of the tea arrangements) presiding at the attractively-arranged table with its central bowl of daffodils and asparagus fern flanked by blue tapers in crystal sconces. Assisting with the serving were Miss Dorothy McMicking, Mrs. T. W. A. Gray and Mrs. S. D. Markham.

FRED W. FRANCIS NAMED PRESIDENT

Heads Shrine Band for Third Successive Year—Other Officers Are Elected

Fred W. Francis was re-elected president of the Shrine Band for his third year at the annual meeting of that musical organization held last night, in the band room.

Wilfred Gibson was re-elected vice-president and James M. Miller was re-appointed conductor. Harry F. Davis was re-elected manager-secretary and librarian, while J. H. McConnell was appointed assistant librarian and publicity director. M. Cuzner was elected treasurer.

The band had a successful year in 1936, various reports submitted showed, and the president was confident of an equally successful year during the next twelve months. Reports were submitted by the secretary, treasurer and bandmaster.

A social evening followed the business session.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH MEETS

Rev. G. A. Reynolds Presides at Banquet and Annual Business Session

Erection of a tablet in memory of Rev. John Hall, first pastor of the church, was asked in a resolution adopted by members of the congregation at the annual meeting of First United Church last night.

Rev. Dr. J. K. Unsworth introduced the resolution, which read:

"Moved, that this congregation, having its attendance called in a special way, on the occasion of the celebration of its organization on February 3, 1862, to the pastorate of its first minister, Rev. John Hall, who was sent here by the Irish Presbyterian Church, arriving April 14, 1861; who held the first Presbyterian service in British Columbia on the following Sunday; who was chosen minister by the newly-organized congregation on February 3 of the following year; who led his people in building a house of worship on Pandora Street, which was opened for Divine service November 15, 1863, and ending a successful stay here in February, 1865.

FINANCIAL REPORT

The treasurer, G. A. Stevens, presented a balanced financial report and stated that all payments due to date on the building purchase had been met.

For the Women's Union, the treasurer, Mrs. K. Ridout, reported that this auxiliary, in addition to $300 subscribed to missions, and many other charitable contributions had during the year assisted the church building fund to the extent of $3,250. In all of its many other activities, the Women's Union reported a successful season.

The Sunday school passes into another year with slightly increased membership. Owing to the resignation of Walter Wain, the appointment of W. N. Finlay as superintendent was approved.

Similarly encouraging reports were received from the Tuckabatchee Club, the Second Mile Club, the C.G.I.T., the Home Study Club and other auxiliaries.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Clerk, Wilfred Smith; assistant clerk, Miss Agnes Flitton; treasurer, G. A. Stevens, missionary treasurer, Angus Galbraith; envelope steward, A. E. Taylor; deacons, life deacon, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, Angus Galbraith, J. H. Tabor, W. N. Finlay, W. Wain, Joseph Turner, J. E. Hamilton and Captain J. C. Foote; trustees, H. Whittaker, E. Stevens, J. Dinsmore, D. Pearmain, G. Johnson, Wilfred Smith, Major S. Hensen and Mesdames Angus Galbraith and W. C. Bradshaw.

The meeting was preceded by a banquet, the minister, Rev. G. A. Reynolds, presiding at both functions.

By standing vote, appreciation was expressed for the long and faithful service of Mrs. C. C. Spofford, a member and officer of the church since its start sixty years ago. Dan Pearmain, for nine years church clerk, was also thanked for his efficient work.

END YEAR WITH $1,721 BALANCE

Saanich School Board Reports Surplus for 1936—Annual Statement Submitted

Saanich School Board ended 1936 with a balance of $1,721, it was announced last night, when the audited statement for the year was presented to the trustees.

On the revenue side of the statement were listed grants of $42,824.90 from the Provincial Government, while from the municipal treasury $77,426.58 was issued for school purposes.

Expenditures for the year were normal, it was reported. Biggest single item on the total expenditure was $82,876.50 for teachers' salaries. Fuel expenses totaled $2,500, while repairs for the year cost $4,370. Transportation costs were $4,300.

There were 2,301 students listed in the sixteen municipal schools.

At last night's session, contracts for supplies urgently needed were awarded to various Victoria firms. The cost for these supplies was estimated at about $1,300.

GOVERNMENT WANTS ITS POUND OF FLESH

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 27 (AP).—The Federal Government dunned John Barrymore, actor, for $27,064 additional taxes in an income tax lien on file today. Payments were alleged to be still owing on his 1931-32-33 earnings.

What Today Means

"AQUARIUS"

If January 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

This January 28 is not an auspicious day to try turning your hand to many things. It will be better to do one or two things well rather than a number badly. Be careful of your vernacular, for the tongue is apt to be a trouble maker. Avoid waiting until the eleventh hour to attend to any matter of importance, because interference is liable to inconvenience greatly those in haste. Trying to rush anyone is likely to prove to be an unwise thing to do. Long-winded people will be decidedly unpopular on this date, as the wise will remember: "Brevity is the soul of wit." Be careful you do not construe a suggestion as being a tacit understanding, or an argument may follow. Do not trust too much to your memory on this date, but make a memorandum of anything that is important. Married and engaged couples and those who are considering the advisability of becoming formally betrothed will do well to keep in mind that personal feelings are likely to be supersensitive on this date, so care is needed in what is said or done.

If a woman and January 28 is your birthday, you are probably an exceptionally good-humored, cheerful person, very affectionate, sympathetic and generous. Most likely you are socially ambitious. Music or dramatic work is liable to be one of your pet hobbies. One of your besetting sins is apt to be a disregard of time, particularly when it comes to keeping engagements. You ought to take an active interest in some form of church work, for luncheons, teas and dinner parties will not provide the intellectual spiritual contentment of mind that you may find essential for your complete happiness later on in life. As a restaurant, gift shop, or specialty store manager, or as a writer, broker or artist, you ought to be able to make money. The chances are your husband will fulfill your expectations of him in every respect.

The child born on January 28 can generally be expected, by the time it arrives at its teens, to have a great amount of self-reliance, poise and initiativeness. It will be instinctively a leader and a good organizer.

If a man and January 28 is your natal day, you must control any tendency to fly off the handle too easily. Patience is necessary for your ultimately making a big success. Some of the activities that might prove to be the media through which wealth and fame are likely to be won are: theological, educational, geological, or botanical work, as well as literary, political or commercial work.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

PRELIMINARY FINESSE PLAYS

When the opponents hold two or more intermediate cards you must make a preliminary play to establish the final finesse position.

NORTH
WEST ♠ Q 6 5 EAST ♠ K 7 3
SOUTH
♠ 8 4 2

South leads the deuce, West plays low and North finesses, playing the ten. East wins with the king. But now observe that North's jack is promoted to third-rank in the suit. When South again leads, a finesse against West's queen will allow North to win two tricks.

NORTH
WEST ♠ K 10 4 EAST ♠ Q 6 3
SOUTH
♠ 8 5 2

Here South leads the deuce, West plays low, and North plays the nine. This is a finesse within a finesse, seeking to give North's J-9 tenace the function of equals by finding the intermediate card, the ten, in favorable position. Since West holds the ten, East must play the queen, and the situation now is the same as in the example above.

AMAZING LUCK

Today's hand is presented more as a miracle of luck than as an instance of excellent play.

South, dealer.

NORTH
♠ A 8 7
♥ 8 7 3 2
♦ J 10 9 6
♣ 8 7
WEST ♠ K 5, ♥ A K 6, ♦ 8 7 5 3 2, ♣ 9 5 4
EAST ♠ Q 6 4 3 2, ♥ Q J 10 5 4, ♦ Q 4, ♣ K
SOUTH
♠ J 10 9
♥ 9
♦ A K
♣ A Q J 10 6 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's bidding not only was extraordinarily bad, but the added opprobrium of "trapping" must be laid to it. South's four club bid was the strongest kind of urge for his partner to stretch to five. North obligingly "stretched" and then South blithely went on to a slam. Not more than once in a thousand times would declarer be able to make his contract against the cards held by the opponents, but this was that time.

West opened the heart king and followed it with the ace, which declarer ruffed. The ace and king of diamonds were laid down and the miracle began to develop. East's doubleton queen fell. This was only the beginning, however. The slam still would have been impossible, except for the fact that the club king lay singleton. The ace of clubs dropped the king, and two more rounds removed West's trumps. The spade ace provided entry for discards on dummy's two diamond tricks.

I can only hope, for the declarer's sake, that he did not allow himself to become encouraged by his success on this hand. It was, as I said before, a miracle of luck, not good play.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Answer—Count your honor tricks, exclusive of trump tricks. Count as winners guarded honors in the opponents' trump suit, and, whenever they are certain to develop, ruffers. Add the minimum number of honor tricks shown by partner's bids. Subtract the total from thirteen, the difference being the trick taking limit of the opponents. If this limit is at least two tricks short of the opponents' contract, and if you cannot expect a greater gain at a bid of your own, make a penalty double.

BIG PROBLEMS FACE PROVINCE

C. H. O'Halloran, K.C., Gives Address to Ward Two Liberal Association

Radio, air service and freight rates, aside from unemployment, were the three most important problems facing British Columbia, C. H. O'Halloran, K.C., told members of Ward Two Liberal Association in Liberal headquarters, Tuesday evening. M. C. McPhail presided.

Victoria was the only capital of any Canadian province that had no adequate radio station, and, with the city's outstanding culture and musical talent, such a unit was an absolute necessity, Mr. O'Halloran declared. He hoped the determined efforts of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce would be fruitful.

FIELD FOR VICTORIA

He described how the Federal Government was constructing auxiliary landing fields fifty miles apart as part of the trans-Canada air system. Determined, persistent and aggressive effort would be necessary to obtain a field for Victoria, Mr. O'Halloran asserted.

British Columbia sold 80 per cent of her products in world markets and bought 80 per cent of her requirements by rail from Eastern Canada. A British Columbia lumber exporter got 15 per cent less for his product than a dealer in Washington State, but had to pay 23.9 per cent more for equipment, automobiles and other articles, Mr. O'Halloran stated.

PROVINCE SUFFERS

Ontario and Quebec received 95 per cent of the benefits of Canada's protective tariff at the expense of British Columbia, whereas effects of the tariff should be shared equally by every province. With equalization of freight rates and distribution of the benefits of the tariff, the cost of living in British Columbia would decrease between 20 and 30 per cent, Mr. O'Halloran maintained.

He pointed out how an automobile could be brought by water from England to Victoria for from $60 to $80 for freight, but a machine sent across Canada by rail cost from $125 to $150. He could see no reason why British Columbia was not entitled to the benefit of a competitive water rate.

SHOW INITIATIVE

Mr. O'Halloran described how residents of Vancouver Island in the 60's and 70's let themselves be cheated out of the terminus of the trans-Canada railway. He hoped residents today would show initiative and aggressiveness in fighting for radio facilities, a landing field and equitable freight rates.

He claimed the protective tariff cost British Columbia $20,000,000 annually. Federal taxes amounted to another $20,000,00, and insurance premiums accounted for a third $20,000,000.

H. M. McGiverin, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, remarked that British Columbia had paid more for being part of Canada than any other province. He believed a new Canadian spirit could be fostered by exchange visits of Cabinet ministers between British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

WHY DO WE CALL IT "STOICAL?"

Conundrum: Why is a person who is free from passion, neither elated by joy nor depressed by grief, who bows to unavoidable necessity which governs all things—why is such a person like a porch?

Answer: Because he or she is stoical.

If this explanation sounds like a lot of Greek, bridle your impatience and take Virgil's word for it that "the mind, conscious of virtue may bring to thee suitable rewards."

Three hundred years before the birth of Christ there flourished in Athens a native of Citium in the Island of Cyprus.

The name of this Greek was Zeno. He was what was known as a philosopher. The philosophy which he preached for the greater part of his one-hundred-year life span urged joy through restraint, pleasure for apathy, a different kind of enjoyment through indifference to the ordinary kind.

Zeno's ideas were called the Stoic school of philosophy; his followers were known as Stoics; and those who exhibited the extreme austerity of the Stoics were said to be stoical.

Zeno expounded his thoughts informally, usually from his front door underneath the portico of his home.

What's in a name—of such airy trifles is the fabric of fame—It was from this indicent that the sect took its appellation, after the Greek word stoa, for porch.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

THE MIND AND STOMACH AND INTESTINAL ULCER

A salesman who had been driving a car for about twenty years was found to be criticizing other motorists and actually quarreling with at least half a dozen motorists practically every day. Everybody else was at fault; he was never to blame. It was learned that he suffered with "indigestion," and examination and the use of the X-ray showed a well-developed case of stomach ulcer.

His doctor explained that while some might say that it was the ulcer that caused him to be so critical of, and quarrelsome with, others, the real truth of it was his nervous, high-strung nature that not only made him quarrelsome, but caused the stomach ulcer to form.

Now the usual medical treatment of stomach ulcer, and of ulcer of the first part of the small intestine (duodenum)—peptic ulcer—is rest of mind and body, the use of non-irritating foods, and a dose of some alkali every two or three hours. When this fails, a surgical operation is advised.

Recently some favorable results in the treatment of peptic ulcer have been obtained by the injection of histidine monohydrochloride in U.S.A., Great Britain and Europe. Histidine has a soothing effect and relieves the severe pain of ulcer.

However, some stomach and intestine specialists, realising that of pain, and the daily injection of these patients are of the high strung nervous type, are of the opinion that the injections of histidine work as much on the patient's mind as upon the stomach or intestine and that injections of any simple substance such as distilled water or a salt solution would give the same results.

Drs. C. A. Floor and C. R. Mullins, in American Journal of Digestive Diseases and Nutrition, Chicago, describe a study made to compare a series of patients treated with histidine injections with another group injected with physiological salt solution. There were eighteen patients, all able to walk about—not confined to bed; twelve were given the injections of the salt solution and six the histidine injections. Drs. Flood and Mullins found after giving daily injections of the salt solution for three weeks that eight of the twelve were free of pain, and the daily injection of histidine gave relief to four of the six cases.

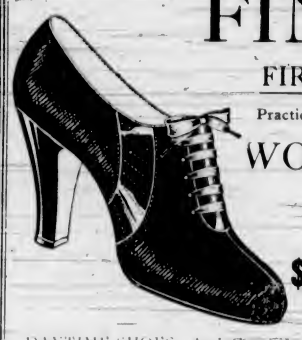

Now this does not mean that histidine should not be given. Some research workers believe that there is a lack of histidine in ulcer patients. However, it does show that the mind is a big factor in the cause and in the successful treatment of peptic ulcer.

Now the bishop suddenly became aware that he was an object of much interest to the daughter of the house, aged five, who eyed him closely. Finally, when they became better acquainted, he came to see the connection between the little girl's thoughts and actions.

"Why, o' course I am," the bishop answered.

"Well," said the little girl, whose father was an ardent chess player, "you don't look like any bishop I've ever seen. I've watched ever since you came, and your head isn't split down the middle and you don't walk cornerways."

"Not at present coal prices."

"I am very disappointed in the way your son Jimmy talks. Only today he said: 'I ain't never went nowhere.'"

Jimmy's Father: "He ain't, ain't he? Why, the young whelp's done traveled twicet as far as most kids his age."

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

There is little doubt but that impure and impoverished blood is the soil on which those red, white, pus-filled pimples develop and thrive, and that nothing short of a vigorous, persistent blood purifying treatment will eradicate them from the system.
